House Set to Give 41 Million to Post Office

Senate Is Due to Act Tomorrow

Mail Deliveries Are Still Slowed

Washington, April 15 (AP)—The House was ready to approve swiftly today a bill to give the Post Office Department another 41 million dollars to restore normal mail service.

The Senate was poised to act, possibly tomorrow, thus clearing the way for Postmaster General Summerfield to call off service cutbacks that began last Saturday.

Meanwhile, a second stage of Summerfield's cutback became effective today. All across the country, mail deliveries to city business districts were limited to two a day, and most post offices went on an 8½ hour schedule for window service.

No Difficulty: Cannon

In advance of the House voting, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee, said "I expect no difficulty." adding: "It shouldn't take long at all."

Cannon may have had in mind the opening game today of the big league baseball season. Traditionally, members of Congress join the crowds at Griffith Stadium to watch the President throw out the first ball.

The House was called into session at 12 noon (EST), only 90 minutes before the start of the game between the Washington Senators and the Baltimore Orioles.

To Urge Acceptance

Sen. Robertson (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee handling postal funds, said he would urge the Senate to accept the 41 million dollar figure.

He said that if the House approves its bill, the Senate Appropriations Committee could act tomorrow. Then, he said, the measure could be brought up in the Senate, under special procedures, tomorrow afternoon.

This would permit early action by President Eisenhower — and Summerfield has said he would make no move to restore service until the President signs a bill giving him more money.

Robertson said he feels 41 millions "is enough" to restore all postal services.

Reasons Given

Summerfield has said he must have 47 millions to keep full mail service in operation during the remaining 2½ months of this fiscal year. Last week, he told senators he would restore all the cuts he could, if he got 41 millions—but he made no commitment to rescind all the reductions under those conditions.

The Postmaster General says the supplemental request was prompted by "possible" postal delays before penalizing taxpayers for late filing of their returns. He did not say what policy should be followed.

The returns must be postmarked by midnight tonight.

A statement issued by the governor's office said Harriman acted because of the "failure of the United States Post Office to handle mail promptly." Postmaster General Summerfield ordered a weekend cutback in service because he told Congress, he needed 47 million dollars to finance operations over the next 2½ months.

Post Offices in seven of the state's largest cities reported yesterday that both federal and state income tax mail was being given priority and was moving normally.

Harriman, in New York City, telephoned his instructions to Tax Commissioner George M. Bragalin, who also was in New York. A spokesman for the governor said the tax commission would have to decide how to carry out Harriman's directive.

Get Constitution Ready to Send Here

Albany, N. Y., April 15—The handwritten original of New York State's Constitution was taken from the vault of the State Library today for a historic return journey to Kingston where it was drafted and adopted in 1777.

The document will be displayed in the ancient Senate House Saturday, April 20, as Kingston celebrates the 180th anniversary of the Constitution's adoption there by the state's first Constitutional Convention.

Governor Averell Harriman commended the junior members of the New York State Historical Association who are sponsoring the observance of State Constitution Day in Kingston.

"This is a year of great constitutional significance," Governor Harriman stated, "because the people of the state will vote this fall on the question of whether to hold a new Constitutional Convention."

Elaborate precautions were taken to guard the Constitution during its absence from the vault of the State Library in the State Education Building: State Adjutant General Jacob H. Herzog (left) points to a passage in the priceless document as State Librarian Charles F. Gosnell holds it in its sealed plastic frame. Troopers G. F. Fitzgerald (left) and M. J. Bergin of the state police will accompany the Constitution on its trip.

Kingston's observance of Constitution Day will include addresses by Governor Harriman, Chief Judge Albert Conway of the Court of Appeals, Henry Steele Commager, professor of history at Columbia University, and Donald Mead, mayor of Syracuse and secretary of the Commission for the Constitutional Convention.

Roger W. Straus, chancellor of the State Board of Regents, will preside at the speaking program in the Kingston 156th Field Artillery National Guard Armory.

Says Reuther Honest, But Would Check Union

Washington, April 15 (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) spoke up today in defense of an old adversary, UAW president Walter Reuther, but said he still wants to investigate Reuther's union tactics.

"I believe Reuther is an honest man," said Goldwater, a member of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

He said there is no conflict between this statement, which he said he made "in fairness," and his desire to investigate the role of Reuther and his United Auto Workers Union in a three-year-old strike the union is pushing against the Kohler Co. in Kohler, Wis.

The firm now is operating with nonstrikers and new workers. It has accused the union of "violence and vandalism" and of boycott efforts.

The union contends the company has refused to bargain in good faith.

Goldwater said his own staff is looking into the legality of union tactics in that dispute.

Basis of Conflict

Much of Goldwater's dispute with Reuther has revolved around the senator's contention that it is wrong to use union funds for political purposes.

But Goldwater said he has never heard anything to justify statements such as a recent one by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who told the committee in a hearing he had "information" about the UAW which he said would make evidence in its investigation of Teamsters Union President Dave Beck "smell like attar of roses" in comparison.

Beck had invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to tell the committee whether he diverted to his own use hundreds of thousands of dollars of Teamsters Union funds.

Never Found Dishonest

"I have never found him dishonest," Goldwater said of Reuther. "He's no crook. He has been scrupulously careful about his union's funds. I believe Reuther is an honest man, although I disagree with him."

He wouldn't, Goldwater said, "mention Reuther and Beck in the same breath."

The committee has no immediate plans for any kind of investigation.

Verdict Reduced To $25,000, New Trial Is Possible

A $45,000 verdict rendered by an Ulster county jury at the March 1956 term of Supreme Court has been reduced on appeal by the Appellate Division at Albany.

The verdict rendered in favor of Burton Simpson of Kerhonkson against Harry Kossar of Ellenville will be reversed and a new trial ordered unless plaintiff stipulates to a reduction of the judgment to the sum of $25,000.

Plaintiff, a truck driver employed by Ellenville Lumber Company, was delivering building supplies to the building development of defendant, Kossar, on July 8, 1954. Included in the lot were doors. An open ditch between two houses was crossed by some unconnected planks which employees of defendant had placed there with the knowledge of the foreman. While plaintiff was carrying doors over the planks one gave way and he fell to the bottom of the ditch, straddling one broken end with his back, groin and spine. There were several knots in the plank which broke. The issue of liability was vigorously contested.

Court's Decision

The Appellate Court holds the plaintiff was a "business invitee and had a right to use the plank crossing in question." The court holds "on the issue of liability we find no errors sufficient to require a reversal of the judgment... however, we are concerned with the size of the verdict."

Atom Head In Sweden Arrested

Spy for Russia, Police Announce

Stockholm, Sweden, April 15 (AP)—A high official of Sweden's atomic energy commission has been arrested on charges of spying for Russia.

A police spokesman said 29-year-old Robert Folke Damstedt, the commission's assistant secretary, is being held for trial on charges of atomic espionage.

One unofficial report said a second person was held as a suspect in the case, which was said to involve sale to Russia of blueprints of Sweden's newest submarines.

Countercharges Made

The disclosure added another round to the stormy exchange of spy charges and countercharges between Russia and Sweden since World War II. Last month Sweden delivered a formal protest to the Kremlin against Soviet espionage in this traditionally neutral country. That protest was coupled with rejection of a Soviet complaint that 14 spies for Sweden had been arrested and sentenced in Russia.

Unofficial reports described the Damstedt case as the most serious in the long chain since World War II. It was learned, however, that as assistant secretary Damstedt performed mainly administrative functions and that he was a legal expert rather than a nuclear physicist.

Concerned Over Weapons

News of the arrest came at a time when Swedish military leaders are publicly urging the government to begin manufacturing Swedish tactical atomic weapons or buy them from the West.

Sweden is in the forefront of small nations in the atomic energy field. Top nuclear physicists here claim the country has both the scientific and technical knowledge as well as the economic resources to make her own atomic weapons.

Sweden is also engaged in experiments on harnessing thermonuclear (hydrogen) energy for peaceful purposes.

Have Resources

"For a year now we have been working on a project in the field of fusion which we believe we have the economic resources to carry out," Prof. Kai Siegbahn, head of the nuclear physics department of Uppsala University, said in a recent interview.

Sweden's atomic energy commission was formed in 1945. It is the supreme organ of all Swedish atomic research and receives regular reports from all Swedish universities and nuclear laboratories.

The commission has on its staff some of the nation's leading scientists, including Nobel prize-winners and industrial leaders.

Jury Trial Starts Today

In Eviction of Chappell

Legal papers aiming to prove the right of control of the Jansen avenue parsonage of St. Mark's Church, were entered in evidence this morning as a jury trial opened before City Judge Raymond J. Mino in a move to evict the Rev. S. B. Chappell from the parsonage.

Attorney James J. Abernethy appeared for the trustees and others bringing the action and the Rev. Mr. Chappell appeared in his own behalf.

Parsonage Only Issue

The minister, who lists himself as pastor of the African Union Methodist Church, claims he has a right to remain in the parsonage despite an eviction notice issued by an elder of a church unit (Buffalo District).

After instances in which testimony tended to touch upon the minister's position in the church, Judge Mino ruled out all such testimony and emphasized that "the only issue involved here is who owns the parsonage."

They, (the trustees) the judge said, "claim they own it. If you have any proof you may submit it." The Rev. Chappell was due to open his case this afternoon.

James Kithcart, of Gage street, a trustee, who was on the stand this morning, indicated that the trustees tried to regain possession of the parsonage "when he" (the Rev. Chappell) "started this twisting around."

Will, Deeds Offered

The parsonage came to the church, the trustee said, through the will of the late Diana Jones. The will and deeds were offered in evidence.

A police report last month, noted that the Rev. M. D. Bert, an elder had served eviction papers. A notice said: "This is to certify that the Rev. S. B. Chappell, former pastor of St. Mark's AME Church, Foxhall avenue (that was the church's former name) has been suspended from all official duties of said church, and of the African Methodist connection, and has (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Jordan Names Pro-West Leader as New Premier

Amman, April 15 (AP)—Hussein Fakhri Khalidi, a pro-western political leader, was named Jordan's new premier today. This was a victory for King Hussein in a six-day-old cabinet crisis.

The 7-man cabinet includes Suleiman Nabulsi, the leftwing national Socialist party leader dismissed as premier last Wednesday.

Under Censorship

(Dispatches from Amman are under censorship. Earlier advances reaching Damascus pictured Hussein as gaining steadily in a bold struggle to purge pro-Egyptian leaders from Jordan's army and political life. Yesterday Hussein exiled the Jordan army's pro-Egyptian chief of staff. Despite this, the major elements of the Jordan army were apparently behind the king.)

Bahjat Talmon, chief of the Royal Cabinet, confirmed that the new government had been formed.

Look for Normalcy

Tension has gripped Jordan during the past few days of the crisis. But it was generally hoped now that the country will return to normal.

The cabinet was top heavy with independents. Besides Khalidi, who is an independent, the new government will have five other independents and one national Socialist.

Appointment of Nabulsi was apparently with the support of the strong national Socialist party, which controls 13 seats in Parliament.

Comes As Surprise

Other members of the cabinet are former premiers Said Mufti and Fawzi Mulki; Suleiman Sukkar, former leader of the Jordanian senate; Dr. Amin Madjaj and Majid Abdulhadi. Khalidi's success at forming a government came as a surprise. Last official information given out earlier today said that Said Mufti was still trying to set up a cabinet.

Agreement apparently was reached at a top level meeting called at the palace at noon. All former premiers of Jordan, all members of the Senate and some deputies attended.

Khalidi was the first candidate asked by the monarch to form a new government but he failed after two days and apologized to the king.

Set Aside Election, Group Asks Challenge Made On Saturday Poll

Woodstock School District No. 2 (village) voted 417 to 391 in favor of annexation to Onteora Central School District Saturday but a consolidation committee today announced it had retained attorneys in the wake of the vote and the issue appeared destined for litigation.

A number of Saturday's votes were challenged and the Woodstock Consolidation Committee for Consolidation, after a meeting Sunday, issued a statement that it has retained the Saugerties law firm of Rosenblum and Lamb "for the purpose of taking immediate legal action by way of appeal to the commissioner of education or by other legal steps in the courts to get the election set aside."

Data on Ballots

A total of 870 ballots were cast on the proposition but 15 were declared void and 47 were challenged.

The committee said today in a statement, issued through its chairman, Theodore R. Lee, that a re-check of the challenged votes, "conclusively indicates that at least 43 of the 47 votes which were challenged were in fact illegal votes. If only a fraction of the challenged votes prove to be illegal, then the election must be set aside."

Illegal Voting Charged

"Illegal votes were cast in Saturday's election on such a whole-sale basis that in the judgment of the committee the result cannot be allowed to stand," the committee said.

The statement by the consolidation committee said: "Yesterday's special election in Woodstock resulted in the following votes: 417 in favor of annexation and 391 opposed, with 15 votes void."

"Under the law, a majority of valid votes must be in favor of the order before annexation becomes effective. The total number of votes was 808 and a legal majority therefore, would be 405. Actually, the inspectors counted 417 in favor so that, on the surface, it would appear that the annexation proposition won by a majority of 12 votes. On a plurality basis, it would appear that there were 26 more votes in favor than there were opposed."

Only Part of Story

"However the vote differential tells only part of the story. At the election 47 votes were challenged on the ground that the persons seeking to vote were not qualified voters. In some cases it was claimed that the voters (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Says Democrats Sought Lanza Aid

New York, April 15 (AP)—The New York Journal-American today quoted State Parole Board Chairman Lee B. Mailer as saying that two Democratic legislators had contacted him personally on behalf of Joseph (Socks) Lanza, convicted extortionist.

Mailer, the newspaper said, declared that State Sen. Joseph Marro and Assemblyman Louis DeSalvo visited him concerning Lanza, whose parole from prison is the cause of a widening political investigation.

Details of the alleged visits were not given. The two Manhattan legislators are Democrats. Mailer is a Republican.

Other developments meanwhile were shaping in the Lanza inquiry. They were:

Possible setting up of a Moreland Act investigation that would supersede the probes by the legislature's "watchdog" committee and by acting state investigation Commissioner Arthur L. Reuter.

A study by the Assn. of the Bar of the City of New York whether Lanza's rights were violated when tape recordings were made of conversations between him and his attorney in the Westchester county jail last February.

Scores Recordings

Louis M. Loeb, association president, said he had asked for a committee inquiry. Several prominent lawyers issued statements criticizing the recordings as "shocking" and "dastardly."

The recordings were made (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

SATURDAY AT MAIN POST OFFICE— Joseph Bujak, a postal employee, works at pile of parcel post packages in main post office building Saturday afternoon. This is the pile that would have been delivered Saturday if Postmaster General Summerfield had not stopped Saturday deliveries for alleged lack of sufficient funds. Kingston Postmaster Oscar V.

Newkirk said this morning that the post office was in good shape with everything "running smoothly." He said the local facilities were a "little heavy" on parcel post but that this should be cleaned up by Tuesday noon. The carriers were out even earlier than usual this morning, he told The Freeman. He anticipates no backlogs. (Freeman photo).

Navy to Release Early 26,000 Draftees

Washington, April 15 (AP)—The navy announced today that it will grant early releases to some 26,000 men it drafted during late 1955 and March 1956.

Men drafted in November and December of 1955 will be released after serving 21 months of the regular two-year draft term. Although no formal announcement was made about the March 1956 draftees, a navy source said these men may be released with less than 21 months service.

For the first time since World War 2, the navy was forced to take draftees during the months of November and December 1955 and March 1956. It did not use the draft after that.

The navy said the releases are being made "to remain within budgetary and personnel ceilings and take advantage of optimum return in recruiting four year enlistees of high caliber."

Only 150 Show Up

Portland, Ore., April 15 (AP)—A well-advertised Teamsters Union rally to protest against Dave Beck and other teamster leaders who are under fire drew 150 members yesterday instead of the thousands expected by sponsors. The sponsoring group of union members had rented the Civic Auditorium, which seats 4,000 persons. They blamed a wind and rain storm for the small turnout. Meanwhile Local 81 of Portland teamsters met and afterward reported the 300 members in attendance gave a vote of confidence to Clyde C. Crosby, the top teamster official in Oregon and one of those under fire.

Rhinecliff Student's Hearing Set Today
New York, April 15 (AP)—A hearing is scheduled in Queens adolescent court today for Fernando Marquez, 18, on charges that his car knocked down a policeman. He is accused of speeding away when police tried to question him Saturday.

The youth, a student at Cardinal Farley Military Academy, Rhinebeck, N. Y., lives at 40 Keat Lane, Great Neck. Police said Marquez, with a friend, Margie Chanis, 17, of Manhattan, drove up to a Flushing bar in Marquez' pink auto early Saturday morning as detectives were questioning a group of teen-agers who appeared to have been in a gang fight. The police questioned one group outside the bar, and then went inside to talk with another group.

Marquez drove up at this point, police said, and a man identified as Robert Brennan, 21, of Flushing, walked over to the Marquez car, spoke to the couple, and then walked into the bar.

As Brennan entered someone shouted "watch out, the cops are here." Detectives said Brennan's hands moved toward his belt, but Detective Charles Prasse jumped him and relieved him of a .32 caliber unloaded revolver.

Ike Throws Out First Ball of '57
Washington, April 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower pitched a doubleheader today to inaugurate the 1957 major league baseball season on a sunny and slightly chilly afternoon at Washington's old Griffith Stadium.

Following a tradition of presidents for almost half a century, Eisenhower pitched from the first base line box set aside for chief executives. Only instead of once, the White House right hander lobbed twice toward a mass of Washington and Baltimore players.

Training Courses Start To Organize Pack 11

The possibility of organizing Cub Pack 11, sponsored by the St. James Methodist Church, was projected on the local scouting scene Sunday with the holding of the first of three parent-training courses at the church hall.

Two additional sections of the course will be given on Sunday afternoons, April 28 and May 5, beginning at three o'clock.

Any parents who have boys between the ages of 8 and 11, (regardless of race, creed, or religion), are invited to participate in these two remaining parent-training programs—for the purpose of enrolling their sons in Cub Pack 11.

World News in Brief

To Decide Course
Galveston, Tex., April 15 (AP)—The 13-member executive council of the investigation-battered Teamsters Union is to gather here today for a conference that will determine if the organization will defend itself against AFL-CIO charges of corrupt practices.

The closed-door strategy session, due to begin tomorrow at this Gulf coast resort city, could also provide an indication whether Teamster President Dave Beck, accused by a Senate investigation committee of putting $320,000 of union funds to his own use, is going to remain the kingpin of the giant 1,350,000 labor organization.

Acts on Bond Rate
Washington, April 15 (AP)—The Senate takes up today a bill to raise the interest rate on government savings bonds from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent. Easy passage is expected.

The treasury has said it plans to apply the higher rate to all series E and H bonds sold after Feb. 1, 1957.

President Eisenhower originally asked Congress for authority to raise the interest ceiling to the 4 1/2 per cent figure allowed on other government bonds. The House held the limit to 3 1/2 per cent, and the Senate finance committee reduced it further to 3 1/4 per cent.

Says Slash Backed
Washington, April 15 (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said today he has received a "tremendously favorable" public response to his demand that Congress slash what he criticized as President Eisenhower's "incredible" spending budget.

The reaction to Goldwater's criticisms of Eisenhower in a Senate speech last week is being watched closely by Democrats as well as Republicans. As a possible indicator of the trend of Eisenhower's popularity, these returns could egg along bold political attacks on the President.

Sees Substitute Heart
Chicago, April 15 (AP)—A scientist foresees the day when you might have a little substitute glass-and-rubber heart placed permanently inside your chest. It would replace your own sick heart which threatened death.

Or you might get a substitute kidney, sewed inside your abdomen, to rescue failing kidneys.

Mistaken Impression On Bureau: Lefkowitz

New York, April 15 (AP) — Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz says opposition to his proposal for a civil rights bureau in his office stems from an "honest misunderstanding" of how the bureau would work.

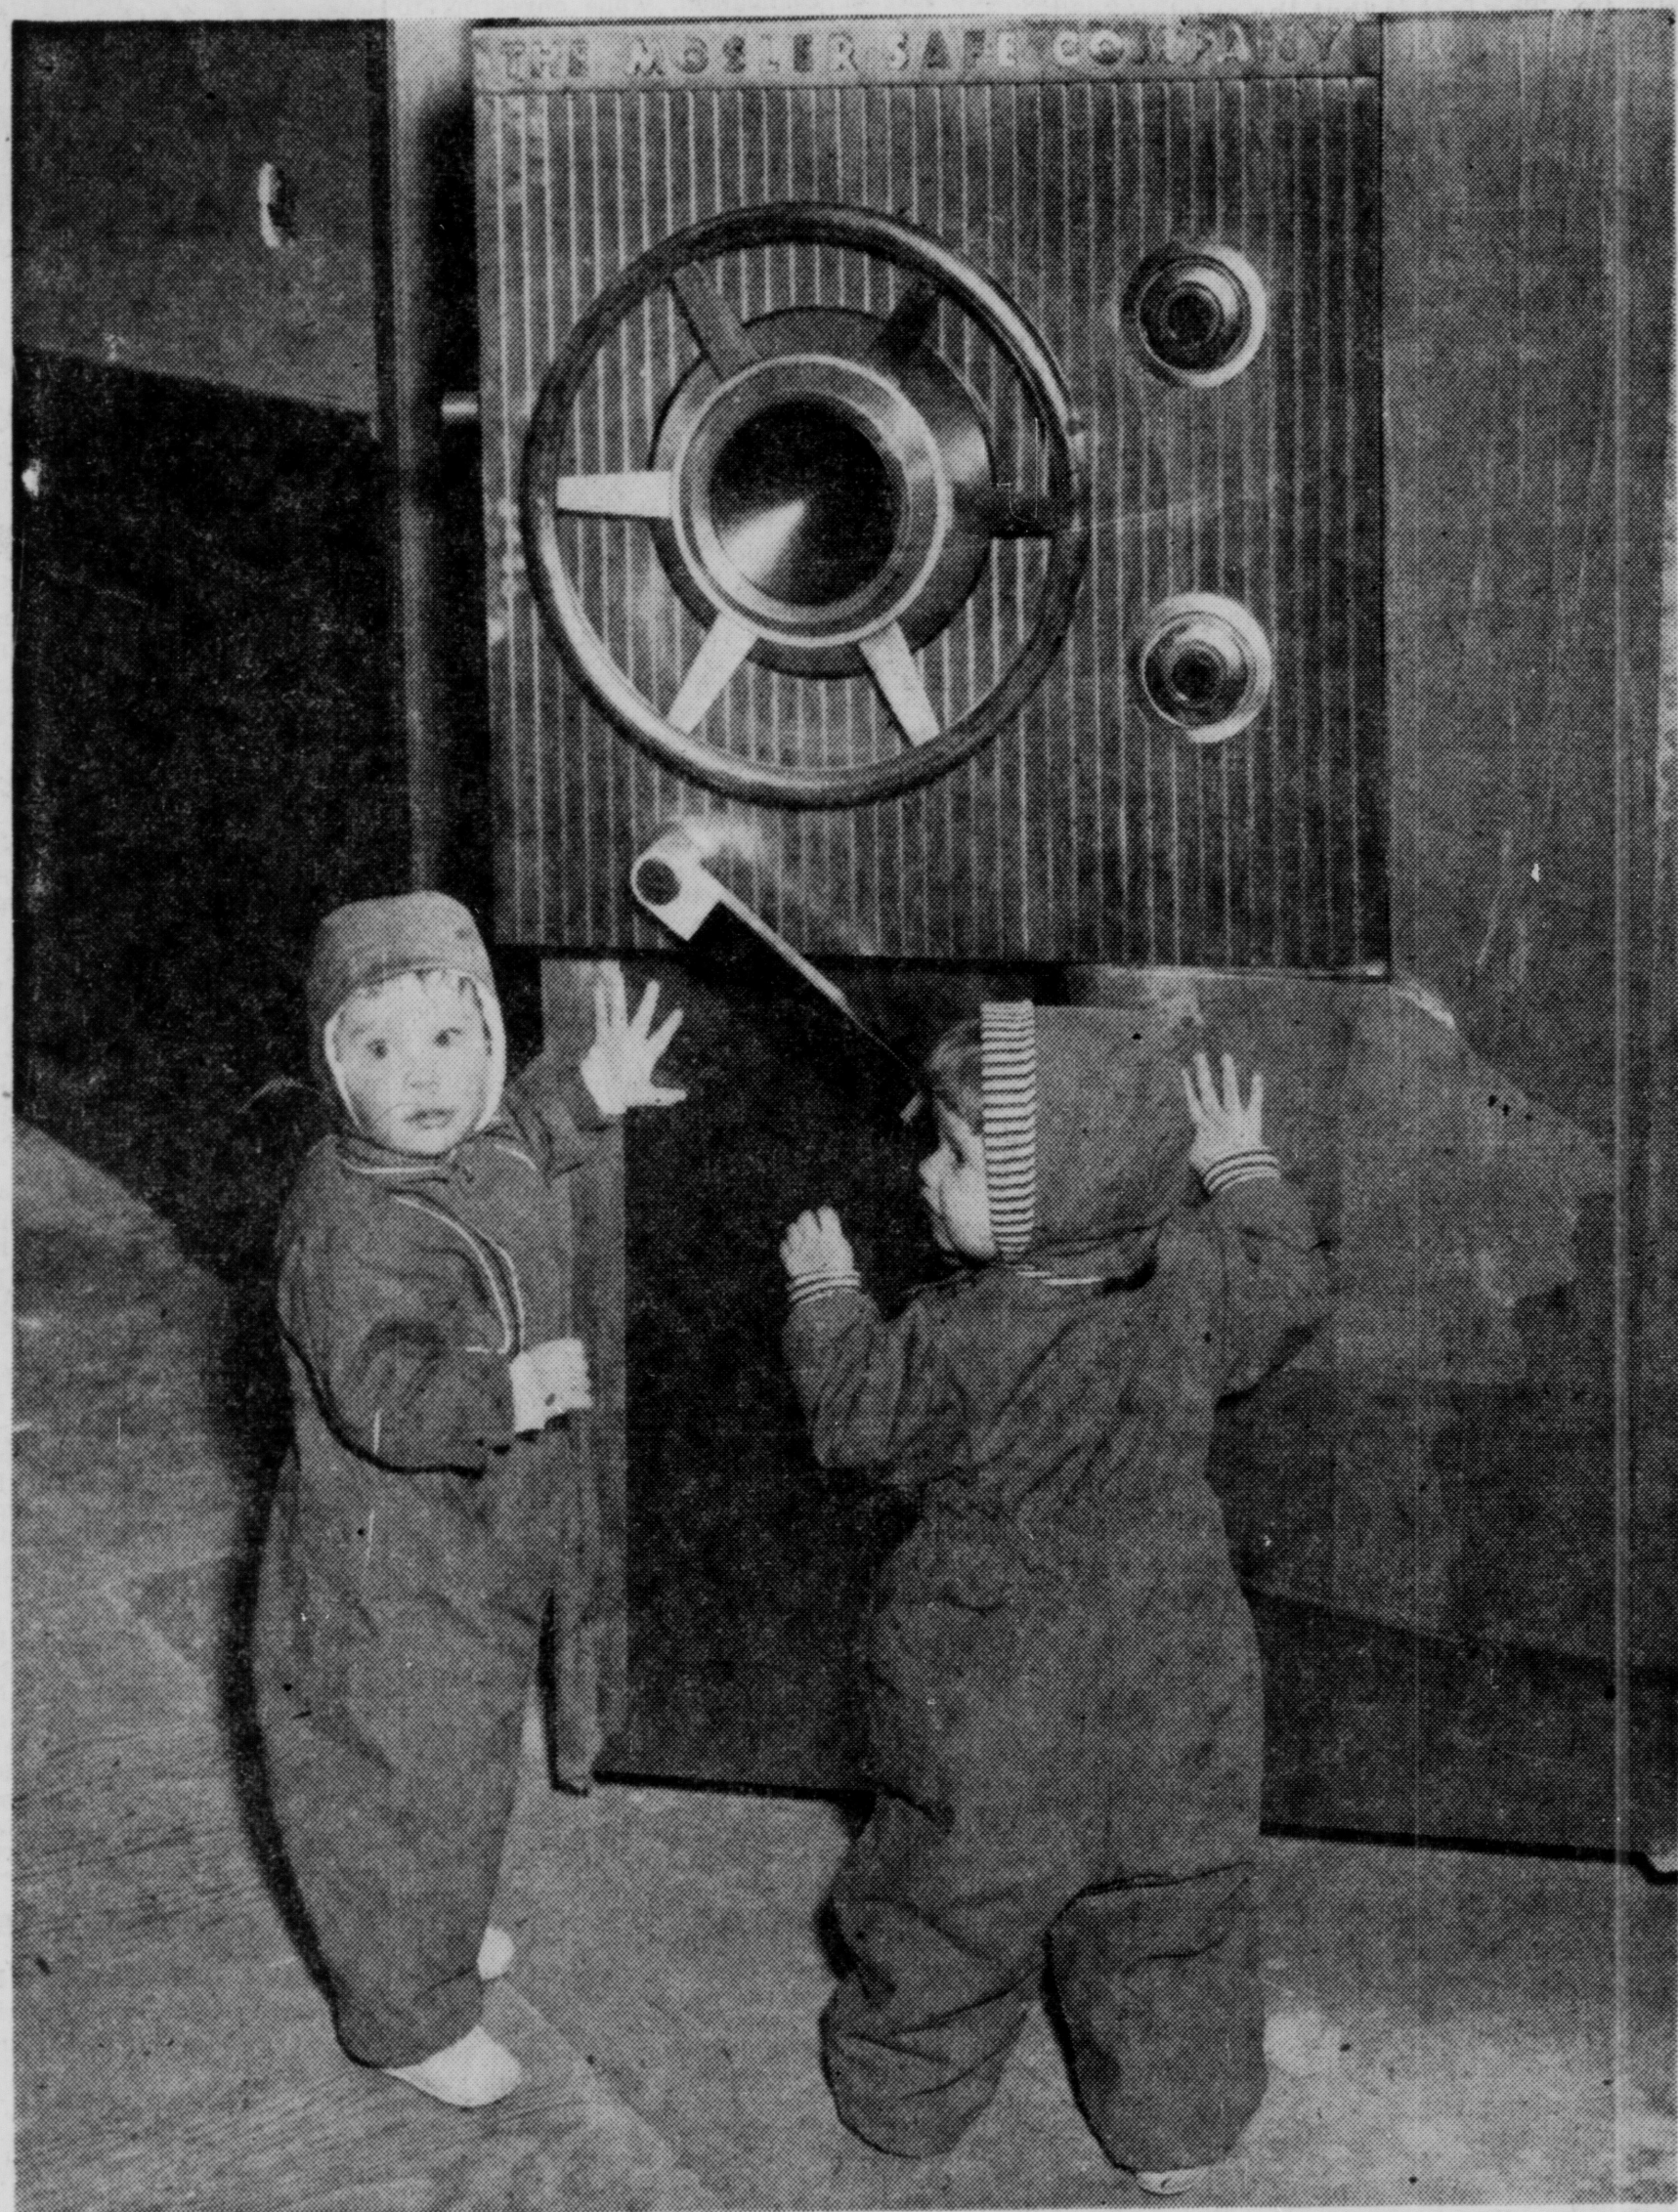

He said yesterday the bureau would in no way interfere with the operations of the State Commissioner Against Discrimination (SCAD).

A bill creating the bureau is awaiting action by Gov. Averell Harriman. Some civil rights and labor groups oppose it on the ground that it would undermine the work of SCAD.

Lefkowitz said there is a "mistaken impression" that the civil rights bureau would duplicate SCAD functions.

"I think too many people think they have a monopoly on civil rights," he added.

Lefkowitz spoke on the WCBS radio panel show "Let's Find Out."

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

The advertising genius who coined the phrase, "The pause that refreshes," to make a soft drink famous doubtless had little idea that he also was neatly summing up one of the most profound observations about life. The fact is that the outstanding and significant spirits, all through history, have been those who paused now and then to reflect deeply on the human condition.

This has been true even of the so-called men of action, the Alexanders and Caesars and Napoleons of the world. The best of them have been not mere adventurers, plunging headlong through life, but men who gave thought to what they were doing and what they intended to do. It is true of the most distinguished men in every field. It is especially true of great philosophers and religious teachers, who understand the value of withdrawal and contemplation.

It is not true, however, that one must be an eminent philosopher or teacher, scientist or artist or general, to practice the art of contemplation. Every man can do this, if he will but make the effort.

It is a good thing to step off the merry-go-round of life, so to speak, and devote a little thought to what life is all about. It is good to look at oneself objectively and to ask: Who am I, and what am I doing with my life, and how can I give it deeper meaning? These are not idle questions. The pause to ask them, and to think about them, brings rewards that are rich in terms of understanding and spiritual well-being.

THE PONY EXPRESS

In the days before the transcontinental railroads mail was carried in the west by the Pony Express, whose 100th anniversary is already planned for 1960. On April 3, 1860, the first mounted carriers started toward each other from St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Cal., a distance of 1,980 miles. There were 80 riders and 420 horses, and they were changed every 10 miles. There were 190 relay stations.

The service was short-lived, only 18 months. The great war between North and South ended it in October, 1861. After the war came the building of the great through railroads, one of which, the Union Pacific, follows closely the route of the Pony Express. It lasted long enough, however, for Mark Twain to see and describe it in his book, "Roughing It."

The centennial will have 400 riders to enact the operation, with entertainment programs along the line. It is hoped that Uncle Sam will issue special stamps and silver dollars commemorating the occasion, and that it will be shown on television. The celebration should give young people a better idea of the arduous work necessary before today's civilization could be created in the West.

OUR FOREIGN STAKE

Anyone traveling about the United States can readily observe that interest in foreign affairs is quite scattered and not as widespread as the gravity of the present world would seem to require. This is understandable to anyone who knows America, but this does not make the lack of interest less dangerous.

In the past, and especially prior to the First World War, Americans rightly believed that nothing happening beyond our boundaries could seriously affect the destiny of this nation. But we live now in a different and changing world. What happens in other areas can and does affect us. And frequently, we pay the price of not having known enough.

America has been graduated into a position in which it must take world leadership. There is no escaping this, except at a price to ourselves. However, many Americans have not emotionally assimilated this new fact of American destiny. They do not really feel that this country is involved, and involved deeply.

Too many of us keep closing out any interest in foreign affairs. If we continue to do this, we will find ourselves unprepared for the days ahead, the days when our

MIXED-UP POLICIES

The Middle East is as much a muddle today as it was a year ago, if not more so, and the Eisenhower Doctrine and the preachments of John Foster Dulles and the legalisms of Dag Hammarskjöld have produced no end to the beligerency of Egypt or the Jihad of Saudi Arabia or the inclination of Israel to risk its future on the ordeal of arms. Not since the 8th century has there been such a propulsion of Islamic enthusiasm for power.

All that has been accomplished thus far by American diplomacy has been to reduce the authority of Great Britain in the Middle East, to smash the French North African Empire, to imperil the existence of Israel and to drive Nasser into a closer association with Soviet Russia. Should another local war break out in the Middle East, will the United States find itself allied with Soviet Russia against Western Europe? And to what end? Or shall we wait until the Marxist Universal State discovers in Islam a direct competitor and then shall we find ourselves in alliance with Nasser against Russia and Red China?

The peril is that local wars are liable to break out in the Middle East all the time. Quite apart from the Israel-Egypt situation, Jordan, which was manufactured and subsidized by Great Britain, is likely to pass away like the winds of its own deserts. Will it be absorbed by Saudi Arabia or by Syria? If by Saudi Arabia, does Jerusalem remain partitioned; if by Syria, does Jerusalem come under Russian influence? Will Jordan's future be settled peacefully or will there be a war over it? The United States has undertaken to train a Saudi Arabian army, navy and air force. It does not amount to much and the President was authorized by Congress to spend some extra money in Middle Eastern countries. But should King Saud attempt to add Jordan to his territory, would the United States be a party to this sort of colonialism, while objecting to British and French and Dutch colonialism? In the pragmatic guess-work that has become American policy, is colonialism virtuous when practiced by an African or Asiatic nation and evil when practiced by a European country?

There seems to be no consistency in our thinking or in the execution of our foreign policy. Certainly Nasser, who has not exhibited any gratitude for the United States rescuing him from defeat by Great Britain, France and Israel, is still being pampered by American diplomacy, which hopes somehow to wean him away from the Russians who are again using Egypt as a base for the provisioning of Arab countries with arms and munitions. Should Nasser turn on Russia, at our prompting, are we prepared to fight Russia over the Middle East? Should Nasser disappoint us by continuing his alliance with Russia, what steps do we plan to take to redeem our position in the Middle East? In a word, have we not moved into a trap which makes war with Soviet Russia over the Middle East an inevitability?

Or to argue conversely, do the Russians need a war in the Middle East while Egypt and Syria work for them in all Arab countries, meanwhile paralyzing Western opposition to Soviet Russia by lulling the American State Department into a condition of desuetude? Obviously, if Russia can take over the Middle East without war, it is more efficient and smarter to do it that way than to shoulder the burdens of war. Therefore it is to be presumed that the Russians will continue to employ political means. Thus far, Russia has been extremely successful in the use of political rather than military weapons.

And there is another advantage in that, namely, that when Westerners see that no general war, involving Russia, occurs, it is assumed that conditions are improving and that right policies are being pursued.

It need never be forgotten that Russia achieved her greatest victory, the conquest of China by Marxism, while the West was preoccupied with the romantic excitements of the Berlin Airlift. There is no reason why we cannot keep our eye on the ball and in the Middle East, our particular ball is the emergence of the Nazi-inspired dictator, Nasser, supported by Communist Russia.

UPSET CHILDREN

We are so accustomed to thinking of childhood as a carefree time, with none of the worries or responsibilities or tensions that plague adult life, that it may come as a surprise to learn that a large number of children suffer various types of mental, emotional and physical upsetment because of their surroundings and their relationship to adults, parents and relatives.

Dr. W. S. Craig, professor of pediatrics (children's diseases) at the University of Leeds, has published in The Practitioner, an interesting article dealing with the child in the ill-adjusted household. He has a detailed study of 200 children between the ages of 3 and 14 years referred to his hospital out-patient practice.

Why were these children referred to him? In only 24 cases of the 200 was there a definite behavior disorder which consisted of unmanageability in five cases, inability to control bowel movement in four, speech difficulties in four, stealing or lying in three, pronounced listlessness in two, feeding disorders in two, and hysteria, temper tantrums and twirling mannerisms in one case each. The other 176 children showed a complicated association of disorders of various kinds—not clearcut.

In searching for the causes in each case, inquiries were made concerning previous health, schooling, and emotional and physical influences operating inside and outside the home. One would think that there might be one particular event which might so upset a child as to cause one of the above conditions but this was found to be the case in only nine of the 200 children.

Examples of this was a speech disorder that began in one child when his mother went out to work in another, after having his tonsils out, and in a third after injury in an automobile accident. One boy completely lost interest in his school work after seeing a companion killed. Sudden desertion by a father was followed by inability to control bowel movements in his son. A repressed life in lodgings accounted for depression in one child and the removal of tonsils resulted in the sudden development of hysteria in another. (You will remember that some time ago we discussed the desirability of making the child "at home" on his first trip to hospital as it is a terrifying experience unless adults reassure him.)

In 172 cases Dr. Craig was able to determine with reasonable reliability the importance of different factors in bringing on the various types of disorders but in 28 children, no particular cause could be found. Careful study led to the conclusion that the development of behavior disorders in these children was the end result of prolonged, relentless and cumulative nervous strain. There were many examples of all children in a family suffering behavior disorders.

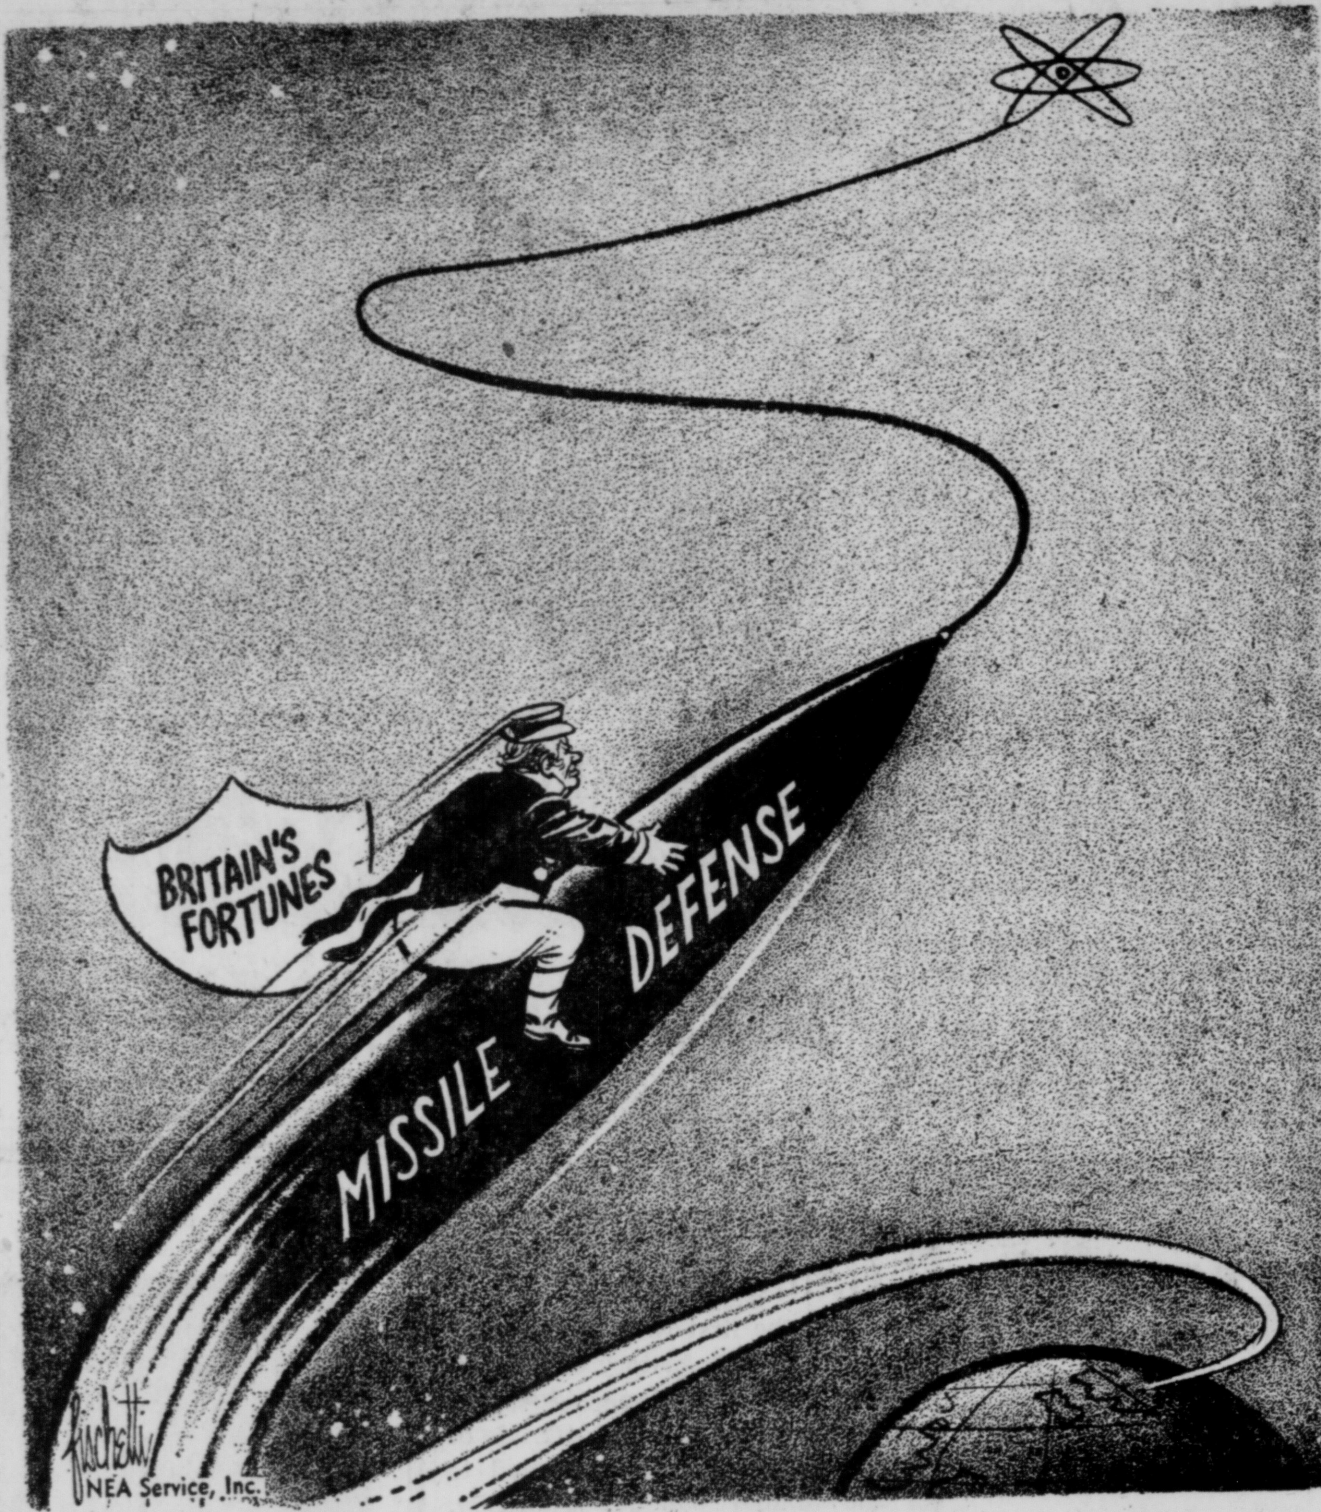

Tomorrow I would like to discuss a few of the circumstances and treatments of children which seem to bring on their upsets, difficulties, and disorders.

Hitched His Wagon to a Star

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, April 14—The mysterious cabal of supra-national architects of the future who spent three days in secret session at St. Simon Island, Ga., thus far have been able to ignore the flurry of suspicion which belatedly marred their otherwise serene and impudent coup. However, the jig is up and henceforth their privacy doubtless will be destroyed by notoriety and challenge. They tiptoed into session on Feb. 16 and tiptoed away on the 18th. Their island is close enough to Jekyll Island to compel in the mind of the knowing observer a comparison with the silly but fateful convocation of a similar bunch who in 1908 formulated the Federal Reserve System on Jekyll while using only their first names. They suppressed their last names to keep their identity secret from the servants.

In the present instance, since the discovery and denunciation of the conference, efforts have been made to convince the public that the exploit was unofficial and not all secret. To be sure, it was not "covered" by the press, although Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, and Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, were participants, but there was nothing clandestine about it. Unfortunately for that effort to take the heat off a stealthy deal, Senator Alexander Wiley, of Wisconsin, stuck into the appendix of the Congressional Record a few days later a "summary" taken from the New York Times, and said in his introductory remarks, "some 70 European and American leaders concluded a private and unofficial three-day meeting at St. Simon." Wiley's self-important acknowledgment of himself and of Sulzberger and McGill as "leaders" well expresses in one word the effrontery of the whole affair. The Times' "summary" was not a factual news story. McGill, formerly sport editor of the Constitution, has become a phenomenon of journalism, politics and power in the south. He lists among his distinctions a hitch as "special adviser and consultant to the Department of State." At the last Democratic convention in Chicago he held up a Stevenson banner on a staff when Adlai met "the press" in answer to Harry Truman's frank verdict that he was a palooka due to be knocked through the skylight. McGill well might boast that when the New Deal Republicans were going through the gaseous rites in San Francisco, he sat on the platform high chancellor of Great Britain; Tom Dewey; Senators Fulbright and Wiley, both of the Foreign Relations Committee; Gabriel Hauge, a truly mysterious stranger to Americans who nevertheless is formally described in the roster as Eisenhower's assistant in charge of economic affairs and by the Wall Street Journal as the expert who tells like "what to think;" C. D. Jackson, vice-president of Time and "former special assistant to Eisenhower for international affairs and delegate to the Ninth UN Assembly;" and George Kennan, former ambassador to Russia. Kennan is so mysterious that he does not even name his parents in Who's Who in America. Kennan is a member of the colony of double-brothers at Princeton which includes the Professor Oppenheimer, who is so brainy that he does not know truth from falsehood and thus qualified to lecture on ethics at Harvard. Kennan proposed that we regard the Soviet conquest of Poland as an irredeemable fact and let it go at that.

Paul Hoffman, now on the UN by Ike's appointment, was in the tax-free foundations did very well. Joseph E. Johnson, "honorary secretary" of the shengang, is president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and the bum who just shouted "remember Alger Hiss" will get a paste in the snoot if he will step outside. Dean Rusk, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, and Henry Kissinger, described as "director of special studies" of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, were a few feller, vice chairman of the board of the Rockefeller's Chase Manhattan Bank. Morehead Patterson, deputy U. S. commissioner of disarmament of UN, is an executive of the bank's 42nd street store.

An American Supreme Court justice, apparently Frankfurter, was there, but did not register. There are unverified reports that about 20 savants refused to sign the humpies register.

This thing is an extension of the Bilderberg group because it held the first of its meetings in the Bilderberg Hotel in Oosterbeek, Holland, in 1954. Others have been held near Paris, in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, and Fredensborg, Denmark.

They all say their only purpose is to preserve peace under the NATO arrangement. But of course they dug right in on the Eisenhower-Middle Eastern-Suez complex, but with no results thus far admitted.

No Republicans were invited. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Saugerties
Saugerties, April 15—The rite of infant baptism was administered to four children at the Palm Sunday worship service of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp.

They are Donna Eileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Valk of Quarryville and Ruth Ann, James William and Francis Allen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ackert of Saugerties.

Sponsors for the Valks were Mr. and Mrs. Foster Winchell Jr., of West Camp.

Mrs. Valk is the former Shirley Overbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overbaugh of Saugerties. Mr. Valk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Valk Sr., of Saxton.

Mrs. Ackert is the former Doris Lee Talmadge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Talmadge of Saugerties. Mr. Ackert is the son of Oscar Ackert of Albany.

During the worship service Daniel Wynne speaking on behalf of the Lutheran Evangelism Mission to be held in the church April 28 through May 2, explained the purpose of the mission.

Mrs. Herman K. Knaust, vocal soloist offered "Open the Gates of the Temple" for the feature musical presentation. The sermon of the Rev. Alvin F. Mesersmith, pastor was entitled, "It Is Finished."

Munching
For before-dinner munching: a cracker spread made with cream cheese or cream-style cottage cheese, red caviar and finely grated onion (pulp and juice). Some red caviars are saltier than others, so taste as you add it to the right amount. This is nice for a party.

Canadians Reported in Doubt About Case of Envoy Norman

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 15—Many Canadians are having second thoughts about the case of E. Herbert Norman, Canadian Minister to Cairo who committed suicide recently. At first the charges that Norman had Communist connections were vehemently denounced as "slander" and it was announced at Ottawa that the Canadian government had "cleared" Norman in 1951. Indeed, a note of protest was sent to the United States government a few days ago deprecating the hearings of the Senate subcommittee on Internal Security which had revealed some "derogatory information" about Norman.

Now it turns out that there is a great deal of doubt as to what was really covered by the Canadian government's denial as uttered by Lester Pearson, Secretary of State for External Affairs, and the mystery is as big as ever.

Last Friday certain questions were put to Mr. Pearson in the House of Commons at Ottawa, but for some unexplained reason what was said there was not transmitted very fully by most of the press services or else it was ignored on Saturday by those Eastern newspapers hereabouts which have been denouncing the State Department and the Senate subcommittee.

Refused to Answer
For it develops that despite the early dispatches saying the Canadian government had found the charges against Norman to be baseless, and despite the later revelation by Mr. Pearson that Norman had had "certain Communist associations," the Canadian Secretary of State refused to answer last Friday a direct question on this point by John Diefenbaker, the leader of the "Progressive-Conservative" opposition. Here was the question:

"Will the minister say that the allegations before the subcommittee of the United States Senate on March 12 and 21 specifically were untrue, unjustified and had no basis in fact?"

Mr. Pearson in his speech dealt only with Norman's associations with Communists in his student days at Columbia. But he added that as a result of a security checkup on Norman and a personal examination of reports the Canadian government was left in 1951 with no doubt as to the loyalty of Norman and his suitability for important posts.

Notwithstanding this, Mr. Diefenbaker challenged Mr. Pearson to answer the question he had propounded and repeated it, demanding to know if the Senate subcommittee's charges were "untrue, unjustified and had no basis in fact."

Stands on Statement
Mr. Pearson, however, said he would stand upon it. Mr. Diefenbaker retorted that "the answer is an equivocal one" and went on to say that Mr. Pearson had not denied the charges of the Senate subcommittee.

What were those charges? In a report from a secret agent of an important government security service—it is not specified whether American or Canadian—the FBI learned in February, 1940, that Norman was a member of the Communist party of Canada.

Also in February, 1942, Norman approached the F. B. I. in Boston in behalf of his close friend Tsuru Shiget, Japanese instructor at Harvard, who had been interned. Norman wanted to get custody of some of Shiget's papers and told the F. B. I. he was on official and highly confidential business for the Canadian government. Not long afterward, Norman changed his story and told the F. B. I. it was only a personal interest on his part and that he was not representing the Canadian government. Tsuru Shiget admitted recently in testimony before the Senate subcommittee that he had Communist associations but said he was not a member of the Communist party. His papers, however, convinced the authorities here that he was strongly sympathetic at the time to the Communist cause. He now says he is ashamed of those Communist associations.

Linked With Halperin
Norman, in 1946 was in the counter-intelligence corps at MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo representing the Canadian government. The F. B. I. was informed that he was recalled from Japan on the advice of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who discovered certain Communist connections on the part of Norman. He was linked with Israel Halperin, a Canadian of Russian parentage who was one of the principles implicated in the exposed Soviet military intelligence operations in Canada as disclosed through the detection of Igor Gouzenko.

There were other factors in the background and Counsel Robert Morris read to the Senate subcommittee on March 12th last a paraphrase of one of the reports of a U. S. security agency dealing with those aspects. Mr. Morris then added to the record this very significant remark:

"This is all in connection with an inquiry that there was an effort being made to have Norman given the assignment of being a liaison between Canada and the United States intelligence."

This raised some interesting questions for the Senate subcommittee:

1. Who inside the American government was sponsoring such a set-up in 1950 just after the Korean War began?

2. What blocked it and what part did a letter from the F. B. I. to the U. S. Army Intelligence play in preventing Norman from getting into such a key post in the United States?

3. Isn't it the duty of a Congressional committee to investigate administrative weakness which occur inside our government here and with which suspected persons from abroad make contact?

4. Wasn't Klaus Fuchs "cleared" by the British government before he went to work in the secret atomic laboratory in New Mexico?

5. Wasn't Burgess of the Maclean-Burgess scandal—who is now in Moscow advising the Soviets—"cleared" by the British government when he became secretary of the British-Canadian-American Committee on Atomic Problems and thereby was given night and day access to the building of the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington?

6. Since Norman was identified as a Communist by information furnished directly to the Senate committee by important witnesses did he cease to be a Communist and in what year?

7. In his recent mission to Cairo what were Norman's contacts with American officials in the Middle East and what did they know of his background?

Significant Passage
The proceedings of the Senate Internal Security Committee on March 21, 1957, show a significant passage in which Counsel Robert Morris, addressing Senator Watkins, said:

"Senator in that connection, we asked the State Department if the communication from the Canadian government ever was to the effect that they discovered that Norman had been a Communist and that he is no longer one. The department has informed us that that has never been the effect of any advice given them by the Canadian government."

So the main question to which the Senate subcommittee still has not found the answer is this: how long was Norman a Communist and what was the nature of his contacts with American officials in the Far East and in the Middle East?

Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit Party in the Canadian Parliament is quoted now as saying that the Pearson government, knowing of Norman's Communist associations, should never have sent him to Cairo last November and was responsible for the tragedy. Mr. Diefenbaker said he too couldn't understand the reasoning of the Pearson government in giving delicate posts to a man with a background of Communist associations. Norman presided over the all-important desk on Far Eastern Affairs in the Canadian government at Ottawa during the critical months of the Korean War and was later acting head of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations in New York.

Since other members of the British Commonwealth openly sided with England and France in the attack on Suez the Canadian Minister to Cairo became a key figure in Egypt. Prominent members of the Canadian Parliament now are saying Norman hadn't been sent to a post in Cairo—where he was naturally in possession of vital information concerning diplomatic moves of the Western powers—the whole episode would never have arisen. Investor Forum

Harry C. France

AN INDIGNANT INVESTOR

Ten years ago, when New York city savings banks were paying 1½ per cent annually on deposit accounts, a conservative investor took $20,000 of his low-earning money and bought 4 per cent first mortgages secured by a property in a poor section of the metropolis.

His income increased from $300 a year to $800 and he was happy. He could not foresee the startling changes that have come about in the money market. The mortgage he bought was not easily marketable but he didn't mind since his income had more than doubled.

Within a decade the neighborhood where his property is located has further deteriorated until today it is a slum area. It will take some public housing to restore the values the community once had.

The owner of the property has just offered the mortgage holder $18,000 cash for his $20,000 lien. The investor is indignant. The very thought of taking a $2,000 loss on a first mortgage investment makes him angry. Sharp words have been spoken between the property and the mortgage owners. "What does he think I am?" asks the investor.

Perspective Necessary

In the whole field of investment, perspective is one of the prime qualities of proper judgment. This investor is being offered 90 cents on the dollar for a value in a bad social and economic area. Furthermore, it is a value with very restricted marketability. Savings banks and insurance companies wouldn't buy it.

What should this investor do? He should search out good values enjoying better marketability that can be bought at substantial discounts. The markets are full of them.

I shall mention a few. The Pennsylvania Railroad $1,000 general mortgage 4½ per cent bonds are selling for 90 cents on the dollar. One of the best ways for this indignant investor to get over his ill-tempered feeling is to look into such a situation and say to himself: "Here is a better value with ready marketability and paying even more than I am getting and I can buy it for 90 cents on the dollar."

Under the impact of tight money, hundreds of sound bond and preferred values are staring millions of investors in the face. For $18,000 this ruffled investor could buy $23,000 of good Baltimore and Ohio Railroad 4 per cent bonds. Or $26,000 of 3 per cent obligations of the Northern Pacific system. Or $23,000 of the 5 per cent refunding bonds of the big New York Central Railroad.

Listed on Exchange
Every bond mentioned here is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Buyers of these liens can be found in every section of the United States.

I write of this matter because in our country there are countless investors who are not aware of the easily marketable values that can be bought at interesting discounts.

Short-term and long-term U. S. Government bonds selling at discounts of from 5 to 10 per cent ($50 to $100 per $1,000 bond) should command the attention of many conservative investors who want no part of common stocks.

If any serious economic recession should threaten our country, present tight money policies would doubtless be reversed. Were this to happen, every bond I have mentioned here would advance sharply in price. It is a most propitious time for investors to study bond and high-grade preferred stock prices.

Burns Fatal to Baby

St. Louis, April 15 (AP)—Julia Marie Niehaus, 3, was burned over most of her body yesterday and died, apparently when she climbed atop a kitchen stove and her dress caught fire. Mrs. Robert Niehaus, her mother, told police she was warming a bottle for Julia Marie's baby sister and stepped out of the kitchen a few moments. The little girl's dress was afire when she returned. The family lives in Pond, Mo., a St. Louis suburb.

Health for All

IS YOUR CHILD IMMUNE?

"Diphtheria? Smallpox? We don't have to worry about them any more."

True, we don't have to worry about them. IF—a real big IF—we take the necessary steps to protect our children against them. The chief reason why these diseases are pretty well controlled in this country is that we've had the means of protection for many years.

Just because we rarely hear of cases, does not mean we can forget about them. The simple routine of protection must go on. Within the first year of his life, your child should be immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, and polio, and vaccinated against smallpox. Some doctors will mix the diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus shots; others give the tetanus toxoid separately.

For all except smallpox, three shots are necessary. Don't worry too much about your child's reactions to the injections. He may be fretful and even a little feverish. He's bound to have a sore arm. His appetite may fall off for a day or so. But doctors say he'll have very little, if any, memory of the discomfort.

When your child reaches his third year or when he is exposed to any of these diseases, your doctor may recommend "booster" shots to insure his protection. Again before entering school, he should have diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus shots and a smallpox vaccination. Do explain why they're necessary. Don't try to pretend to him that "they won't hurt a bit."

This is the routine of immunization that every child in this country should go through. In special circumstances your doctor may recommend protection from other diseases such as measles, epidemic influenza, typhoid, cholera, yellow fever and typhus.

What is your child's life and health worth to you? Certainly the most complete protection medical science can offer. This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: The Ulster County TB & Health Association, 74 John street.

Voters casting ballots in Woodstock school election

were non-residents of Woodstock, while in others, it was claimed that the voters were otherwise lacking in qualifications. Despite the challenges, the votes were allowed to be cast and were counted as valid votes.

"Since the election, the committee has made a double check of the challenged votes. This re-checking conclusively indicates that at least 43 of the 47 votes which were challenged were in fact illegal votes. If only a fraction of the challenged votes prove to be illegal, then the election must be set aside."

"Illegal votes were cast in Saturday's election on such a whole-sale basis that in the judgment of the committee the result cannot be allowed to stand."

"Under the circumstances therefore, the committee is engaging the firm of Rosenblum and Lamb of Saugerties, New York for the purpose of taking immediate legal action by way of appeal to the Commissioner of Education or by other legal steps in the courts to get the election set aside."

Reginald Bennett, district supervisor, reported that the vote was the largest cast since the vote in the Onteora Central District several years ago.

Present at the polls was Robert Coughlin, an observer representing the State Education Department.

Serving as chairman of the meeting was Alvin Macowitz, with Richard E. Rudisill as assistant chairman.

Tellers were Mrs. Winifred Huty, school district clerk, with Mrs. Muriel Green, Mrs. Marjorie Harder, Mrs. Elise Twine and Mrs. Betty Schwarz as assistant clerks.

Balloting was in the Woodstock Elementary School with ballots printed by the State Education Department.

Only the question of centralization with Onteora was at issue.

It is also reported that the West Hurley election held recently may also end up in the courts. A small majority in the West Hurley balloting also favored annexation with Onteora.

New Wage Order For Cleaning and Dyeing in Effect

Two new minimum wage orders, covering employees in the laundry and the cleaning and dyeing industries, go into effect today, pursuant to an order issued by Isaac Lubin, New York State Industrial Commissioner.

The orders call for minimum wage payments to full-time employees of 90 cents an hour from the effective date until September 30, 1958, and $1 an hour thereafter.

Unanimously Favored

The new wage standards were the unanimous recommendations of minimum wage boards made up of representatives of employers, labor and the public after public hearings in all parts of the state. The previous orders, issued in 1953, established full-time minimum pay of 80 cents an hour in the cleaning and dyeing industry and 75 cents an hour in the laundry industry.

The cleaning and dyeing wage order permits apprentices and learners to be paid $28.50 a week until September 30, 1959. But no special apprentice or learner rates are permitted after that date. Minimum wages for part-time workers, those working less than 24 hours a week, are set at five cents an hour above the full-time minimums.

The laundry order does not permit any learner or apprentice exceptions to the minimum rates and also sets part-time minimum wages at 5 cents an hour above full-time.

Pope Will Press To Get Nuclear Weapons Banned

Vatican City, April 15 (AP)—Pope Pius XII says he will keep trying to get nuclear weapons outlawed. He looks to the United Nations to achieve this.

The Pope said this yesterday at a private audience, unusual for Palm Sunday, with Dr. Masatoshi Matsushita, special Japanese envoy touring Europe to agitate for an end to tests of nuclear weapons. Matsushita said he was "very much pleased" with the Pontiff's attitude.

Easter Message

Vatican sources, confirming the envoy's version of the Pope's remarks, hinted the Pope may refer to nuclear weapons again in his Easter message next Sunday.

Representing Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, Matsushita came to Italy from London after Prime Minister Macmillan's government again declined to call off the forthcoming British H-bomb tests at Christmas Island in the Pacific.

Members of Britain's opposition Labor party have demanded postponement of the tests, but the government expects Parliament to approve its stand after a defense debate this week.

Request Made in '55

The Pope gave Matsushita a copy of his 1956 Christmas address in which he said:

"Only in the ambit of an institution like the United Nations can promises of nations to reduce armament, especially to abandon production and use of certain arms, be mutually exchanged under the strict obligation of international law." The Pontiff endorsed aerial inspection to enforce disarmament pledges.

The Pope in his 1955 Christmas message called for the "renunciation of experimentation with atomic weapons, renunciation of the use of such, and general control of armaments."

Matsushita talked with U. S. Judge Green H. Hackworth, president of the World Court at the Hague, on his way from London to Rome. They discussed the nuclear tests.

The Japanese envoy plans to fly to Washington to confer with President Eisenhower. He said another Japanese mission soon will go to Russia, which has set off a series of nuclear explosions this month.

Senate Favors Rate Increase On Savings Bonds

Washington, April 15 (AP)—The Senate today passed after only 10 minutes debate the bill increasing the interest ceiling on government savings bonds to 3 1/2 per cent.

The bill goes back to the House which passed the measure in a form permitting a 3 1/2 per cent ceiling. President Eisenhower originally asked for a 4 1/4 per cent limit on the series E and H bonds. That would permit raising the return on saving bonds to the same limit set for other government obligations.

The Senate's voice vote action came after a brief explanation of the bill by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Finance Committee.

Byrd told the Senate he sponsored the measure with "a certain amount of regret" because the burdensome effect of high interest rates on many sectors of the economy.

But he said that it appears some increase in rates is necessary on the saving bonds because redemptions have been exceeding sales for several months.

The treasury has said it plans to apply the 3 1/2 per cent rate to all series E and H bonds sold after Feb. 1, 1957.

while Lanza was being held for possible parole violation, and bits of the overheard conversations have since figured in the controversy.

The New York World-Telegram and Sun said that leaders of both political parties plan to ask Gov. Averell Harriman to set up a politically-impartial Moreland Act Commission for sweeping investigation of both the Lanza case and the entire parole system.

Meanwhile, city investigation Commissioner Charles H. Tenny said there was no foundation to statements that Lanza used a city-owned automobile while on parole.

House Set

ing residential areas and a postal pay raise.

Congressional critics, including Cannon, have contended Summerfield should have lived within his regular budget of more than two billion dollars. They have accused him of violating a law designed to prevent overspending by federal agencies. They have argued he spent too much in the first three quarters of the fiscal year and did not leave himself enough money for this final quarter.

A measure of support for this view came Saturday from Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, head of the watchdog General Accounting Office. Campbell said the Post Office Department violated the anti-deficiency law "in spirit" while staying technically in bounds.

Says Law Broken

But Campbell, in a letter to Summerfield and Cannon, said the law by allowing the Post Office to spend its regular appropriation too rapidly.

He said the section of the law relating to the postal situation provides no penalty for violations.

Yesterday, Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.), said in a television interview (CBS Face the Nation) "I place the main responsibility" for the present situation on Budget Director Percival Brundage.

Neuberger said the Budget Bureau should have given Summerfield permission months ago to ask Congress for more money. The senator said such permission was not granted until the middle of last month, although he contended the need had been apparent for some time.

Regular Saturday mail deliveries have been suspended, and most of the nation's 38,000 post offices remained closed over the weekend. Two weeks from today, unless Summerfield gets his money, sales of money orders are scheduled to be halted in most post offices, and an embargo is to be clamped on third class mail.

Ave Set to Probe Parole System After Lanza Case

Albany, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—Gov. Harriman revealed today that he would order an investigation of the entire parole system as an outgrowth of the Joseph (Socks) Lanza case.

The Democrat governor said in a statement that he was waiting for more information on the case before deciding what type of a study should be made.

Meanwhile, the New York Journal American quoted the parole board chairman as saying that two Democratic legislators had contacted him personally on behalf of Lanza, a convicted extortionist.

The newspaper reported that Chairman Lee B. Mailler said, Sen. Joseph Marro and Assemblyman Louis Desalvio had visited him concerning Lanza.

Details Not Given

Details of the alleged visits were not given. Mailler, a Republican, was not available after the story was published.

Dismissal of parole violation charges against Lanza in February touched off two separate investigations designed to determine whether a political "fix" might have been involved.

Harriman said "It seems clear to me that the parole system needs a review."

Undecided on Way

He said he had not decided whether the job should be done by appointment of a Moreland Act commissioner or by "a small committee of specially qualified individuals."

He said he was "waiting to receive more information" before deciding as to which course would be "more effective in improving the procedures" of the parole board and the parole division.

Earlier today the New York World Telegram and Sun said that leaders of both major political parties planned to ask Harriman to institute a politically impartial Moreland Act investigation of both the Lanza case and the entire parole system.

But Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, a powerful GOP leader, said he knew of no such plan.

Heck told a reporter that he "certainly would not make such a request of the governor as long as the joint legislative committee on government operations was doing such an excellent job" in investigating the Lanza case.

150 Boy Scouts Hold Hike-o-Ree

More than 150 Boy Scouts and leaders of Kingston District conducted the first annual hike-o-ree to Lake Louisa on Esopus mountain.

Of the 18 Boy Scouts troops of the Kingston District of Rip Van Winkle Council the following participated in the day-long event: Troops 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 16, 17, 26, and 82.

Commissioners Guide

The program was arranged and supervised by Commissioners Robert Tremper, Joseph Shapiro, Robert Greene, George Shaver, Mark Kachigan and Edward Safford.

After checking in, each troop and patrol were given a map and had to make their own compass bearing to reach the lake from their particular starting point. During the hike the Scouts had to keep a record of all animal tracks, nests, wildlife and edible plants.

Most all of the units reached their destination without mishap although there were a few cases where some did get off the trail for a while. Upon arrival at the lake, cooking areas were assigned, and the Scouts cooked their own meals ranging from hot dogs to fried chicken.

The opening ceremony for the afternoon program was under the direction of District Commissioner Safford in the assembly area.

The events started with a contest of tent peg making with proper axe handling also judged. Next the Scouts were allowed two minutes to observe 10 specimens of nature that had been gathered and then given another 10 minutes to duplicate the collection.

Fire Bucket Test

The fun game was the fire bucket brigade competition. The team of five men arranged themselves on rugged terrain leading up from the lake, and upon the signal passed pails of water up the line a predetermined number of times. While the water spilling was going on other patrols competed in a knot tying contest.

Signaling and First Aid theory were combined by having one pair of Scouts send by Morse code a message explaining the injury in the "problem" handed to them. The receiving team on the other side of the lake then had to send back by Morse what they figured would be the proper treatment. This event brought home to the Scouts the real need for signaling knowledge and First Aid knowhow if any accident ever did occur when they were out on a hike of their own.

Completing the day, all of the Scouts and their leaders held a general cleanup with campsite inspection and gathered at the assembly area for group pictures. Sherwood Lasher, Rip Van Winkle Council commissioner called for a living circle and pronounced the Scoutmaster's Benediction.

Nasser Facing Fight of Life To Retain Lead

Cairo, April 15 (AP)—Egypt's President Nasser faces the fight of his political life to retain leadership of the Arab world following King Hussein's coup in Jordan.

Hussein's overthrow of pro-Egyptian elements represents a major break in the so-called "free Arab" front—a grouping of states who oppose the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact and formal Arab ties with the West. The group is composed of Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Yemen.

Winning Jordan over to this Arab clique had been one of Nasser's signal victories over the West of the past two years.

He achieved this through the ouster of Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb, British founder of the Arab Legion, and the termination of the British-Jordan Treaty.

Reaches Peak

Nasser was unchallenged leader of the Arab group and for a time had all the other Arab governments on the defensive in the face of a wave of anti-Western nationalism sponsored by Cairo.

Nasser reached his peak of influence in Jordan last October when a heavily pro-Egyptian parliament was elected and the armies of the Arab group were placed under Egyptian command for any joint operations that might arise.

Doctrine a Challenge

Early this year, Nasser's leadership was challenged by President Eisenhower's Middle East Doctrine. The Egyptian president regarded this as an effort to isolate Egypt by drawing the other Arabs into close cooperation with the United States.

Even Nasser's old ally, King Saud of Saudi Arabia, began flirting with America and lined up in a strong anti-Communist position.

Arab states outside Nasser's bloc—Lebanon, Iraq, Libya and Tunisia—quickly fell into line with the Eisenhower Doctrine. King Hussein initially welcomed the doctrine, but his pro-Egyptian Prime Minister Suleiman Nabulsi attacked it strongly.

A showdown finally came and at the moment Hussein has achieved the upper hand through use of force.

To Probe Death

Binghamton, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—Police are investigating the story of a woman here who says a man's death—ruled a suicide 34 years ago in Ohio—actually was a slaying. Mrs. Agnes Savage McDevitt, 50, said Saturday that a former girl friend of hers—who was not identified—shot Bert Smith in Toledo in May, 1923, because of jealousy. Mrs. McDevitt originally telephoned her story to the Toledo Blade. She told the Binghamton Press Saturday that she was driven to make the long-delayed confession by illness and conscience.

Study Legislation On Niagara Power

Washington, April 15 (AP)—A Senate public works subcommittee today weighed Republican and Democratic-sponsored legislation to authorize development of power resources at Niagara Falls, N. Y., by the New York State Power Authority.

At the windup of a public hearing Saturday, a former federal power commission chairman, Leland Olds, endorsed a bill introduced by Sen. Clark (D.-Pa.). The measure would give rural electric cooperatives and municipal electric systems full preference in the distribution of power from the 600-million dollar project.

Two New York Republicans, Sens. Javits and Ives, propose that the cooperatives and municipalities be assured "reasonable" amounts of power.

Robert Moses, chairman of the New York Authority, has told the subcommittee that full preference would hinder the marketing of revenue bonds to finance the huge project.

Olds, in direct opposition, contended there were so many sources of financing for such a project that "no monopolistic group would be permitted to block the development of so greatly needed a project."

He maintained that, among other things, insurance companies were eager to invest in such gilt-edge opportunities.

Boston, April 15 (AP)—Abba S. Eban, Israel's ambassador to the United States, says Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal is "another attempt to control the economy of Europe by controlling the flow of vitally needed oil." Eban was in Boston to confer with Jewish leaders on the United Jewish Appeal and Emergency Rescue Fund.

BRIDGE

Two Doubled, Bids Three

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

West was insulted at South's temerity. West had doubled at two diamonds and here was that imbecile bargaining right in to three. This time West's double could be heard in the next county.

North could do nothing but pass and hope that the slaughter would not be too great while East was quite happy. He had warned his partner once.

The four of spades was opened. South trumped and led the nine of clubs. West saw no reason to use his ace on that innocent little card and South held that trick.

South continued with the club suit and West ducked as long as he could in the vain hope that South would abandon the suit. However, South was sure that East held no trumps at all and continued until the ace fell. He ruffed and then led a trump. Eventually he lost one heart and two diamonds thereby making one overtrick.

East's comments were even louder than West's double had been. He explained carefully that everyone at the table had heard the first double and that South must have held a terrific freak in order to go on.

East suggested that West could have passed if he wanted to be conservative or could have bid three no-trump if he wanted to take aggressive action. In that case West would almost surely have made the game but even if he went down the result would have been much better than what did happen.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

TO MY FARM NEIGHBORS

Do you know that about 1/4 of your working time goes for Federal, State and local taxes? Based on the 8-hour day, you work 2 hours to pay your taxes!

The Department of Agriculture estimates that you, farmers, paid, in 1954, Federal Income, State Sales and property taxes aggregating 2.9 billion $'s. Another source estimates you paid further taxes, including hidden taxes, of 1.8 billion $'s. Yet the Government continues to spend billions yearly to "aid" agriculture and support farm prices.

Does this make sense? Some years ago the New Deal, under pretense of giving underfed children a square meal, began donating groceries for school lunches.

Last year, about 3,400,000 persons enjoyed dinners at the taxpayers' expense!

If you think they were outcasts, listen! In Sunflower County, Miss., 37,000 of its 53,000 citizens were on the free list in 1956. The County welfare agent sent out 1,500 letters urging farmers to see that their tenants and hired help "got on the gravy train."

They say that, in Pennsylvania, it was only necessary to stick out your hand, and receive the hand-out—so anxious was Government to give away groceries!

And in Detroit, there were, in 1956, 30,500 families fed "for free." People just motored down for Government groceries.

What is this, all—but an attempt to dispose of farm surpluses?

Write your Congressman; tell them to at least begin to get Government out of agriculture.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Received a letter from Mrs. Ira H. Addis of Kerhonkson in which she writes in part: I am a steady reader of your column in The Freeman and enjoy it very much, and do agree that there are thousands of people in Ulster county who would be willing to pay a dollar a month gladly if they were asked, to have TV station (66) back on the air, as so many people cannot get any other channel. So keep up the good work."

It seems a large number of folks feel the way Mrs. Addis does. I imagine it is more difficult to start all over to get a local TV station rather than it would have been to hold on to the one we had. With our growing community, many events happen which one would like to see on local TV.

No doubt, the TV photographer taking films of the many important events could re-run the film in time to come so that folks could see the event again. With no local TV, on one will bother taking talking-movies of events. I feel, as long as our local TV tower is still up perhaps some day again we will have local TV.

Enjoyed reading items by the Columbia students. One called "Open House Week" by Leon Berton. It is interesting to know how visitors feel and think about our town. Leon Berton takes one through the Senate House building with Mrs. Terwilliger. One of the items told about the deed signed by "Thomas Chambers with the Indians back in 1652, on June 5. I suppose he did the red-headed Englishman, Thomas Chambers, think then, that this paper of his would be laminated so it should last nearly forever.

I understand Chambers' tombstone was recently removed from the late Col. and Mrs. Gordon Reel's basement wall of their home overlooking The Strand and Mill street. The tombstone is now in the City Hall, I am told.

When the Reel home was first built, Chamber's body was removed from the location to Montrose Cemetery. The home's foundation was built and at the time, the tombstone was imbedded in the cement so it could be easily read by anyone who desired to take the time.

The Columbia journalist student also mentioned the ferryboat model at the Senate House Museum. Mrs. Terwilliger said it was called the Riverside, the Skillypot and sometimes the Otherside. That little ferry ran some 100 years. It was attached to Rondout and Sleighsburg docks of the Rondout Creek by two chains, yet it needed a licensed pilot because of the width of the creek. Sometimes it was also called the Chain-Ferry.

In 1921 the Rondout Creek Bridge was opened to take the place of this ferry, but the ferry ran till 1922. Now it seems, even the Rondout Creek Bridge is becoming obsolete, although only about a quarter of a century old. That little ferryboat model at the Senate House Museum noticed by Leon Berton pleased me very much because my father made it back in 1921. He kept it in his drugstore window until 1951 when he died, and I presented it to the Museum. I am glad folks, especially visitors, are still interested in it, now an outmoded form of travel. I remember, when he would take it out of the window to repair or re-paint it, folks would ask, "where's the Skillyput?" even children too young to remember the original Skillyput, only knowing his model of the Chain-Ferry, asked about it.

Law Probes Death Of Man Left by Pair of Officers

Albany, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—Police today continued an investigation into the death of Robert L. Kent, who was found dead in his apartment bedroom seven hours after two policemen reported they had left him sleeping.

Police Chief John R. Tuffy said there was no evidence of foul play.

Coroner J. Gregory Nealon said Kent, a 39-year-old engineer, had died Saturday of strangulation. Kent suffered a fracture of the larynx, Nealon said.

Tuffy said the policemen entered Kent's apartment early Saturday to investigate a complaint that he was noisy. The chief said the policemen reported that Kent was asleep when they left.

A friend found him dead seven hours later.

Kent, formerly employed by the General Electric Co. in Schenectady, started work for the state Public Works Department last Monday.

Was Norman Communist? Had Some Associations

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Washington, April 15 (AP)—It is 11 days since E. Herbert Norman, Canadian diplomat accused at an American Senate subcommittee hearing of being a Communist, committed suicide in Egypt. He was his country's ambassador there.

Two questions remain: Was he a Communist? What was the real purpose of the hearings? Norman killed himself after the internal security subcommittee released records of two March hearings in which he was flatly called a Communist in the present tense.

There are contradictions in this story. The best way to approach it is from the beginning. Norman was first linked with communism at a 1951 hearing by Dr. Karl W. Wittfogel, a college professor and one-time Communist.

He said he met Norman in a Communist study group in 1938 at Cape Cod. He said Norman was a Communist. Except for saying it was "obvious," he never explained how he knew.

Mixed-up Witness

But Wittfogel was a mixed-up witness. That didn't become known until this month, six years later, when Robert Morris, counsel for the subcommittee, said Wittfogel had not met Norman in 1938 at Cape Cod but in 1939 at Columbia.

This writer has gone through the voluminous volumes of the subcommittee hearings back to Wittfogel's testimony in 1951 and, with one exception, could find no instance where one person ever said Norman was a Communist.

The exception was Morris himself. One thing was clear from reading the hearings: If Norman was not a Communist, he played around with them.

Pearson Defends Norman
Canada's foreign secretary, Lester B. Pearson, stoutly defended Norman. He said Norman had been investigated in 1951, after Wittfogel's testimony, and had been found loyal to Canada.

Pearson admitted that Norman in his youth had had Communist associations. But when asked twice point-blank on the floor of the House of Commons if Norman was a Communist, Pearson refused to answer.

The story moves up to March 1957. John K. Emmerson, a State Department career diplomat who had been investigated by his department in 1952 and cleared of any suspicion of communism, was called before the subcommittee to testify.

In 1944, when his specialty was psychological warfare, he was assigned by the State Department to Chinese Communist headquarters in Yenan. The Chinese Reds were using Japanese Communist prisoners for propaganda against their own people.

Emmerson wrote a memorandum to his superiors suggesting the United States use Japanese prisoners for propaganda against Japan, too. A copy of this note was found by the subcommittee staff last year. He was then 12 years old.

But on March 1 Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), a subcommittee member, told the Senate Emmerson had "slanted" his reports from China. Emmerson was called to testify, which he did on March 12 and 21.

No Reason to Suspect

During his explanation of the note and his later activities in the war, he mentioned meeting Norman, whom he had known since 1940, in Tokyo in 1945. Under constant questioning by Morris, Emmerson said he had no reason to suspect or believe Norman was a Communist.

But Morris, all primed with information on Norman, said "we have quite a few security reports which have a great deal of information to the effect that he (Norman) is a Communist." He read from a document identified as "from a U. S. government executive agency security report."

He never identified the agency by name. The FBI later denied it had given the subcommittee any information on Norman. Army intelligence issued a similar denial. In his testimony Emmerson said he last saw Norman in Lebanon on Oct. 27, 1956.

Emmerson was then with the American consulate in Lebanon, which is Israel's next door neighbor. Norman was coming to Lebanon to present his credentials as minister to that country. The meeting of those two men, Oct. 27, was two days before Israel invaded Egypt. Before the hearing ended, Morris told Emmerson he was not under investigation. But on April 12 Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) chairman of the subcommittee, told the Senate the purpose of the hearings was not to investigate Norman but to investigate "personnel in our own State Department, one of whom was stationed in the Middle East." He mentioned no names.

But Eastland's explanation of the purpose of the hearing was not the same as that given this writer previously when he asked Morris to explain the purpose. Morris, who had told Emmerson he was not under investigation, had said:

"We wanted to ask him (Emmerson) about his associations with Communists in China and his association at the time of Suez (meaning the invasion of Egypt by Israel) with a man (Norman) listed in our records as a Communist."

Taxpayers Claim They Can Cut Income Taxes

Albany, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—A private taxpayer's organization today launched a campaign it said could lead to a cut in income taxes.

The citizens public expenditure survey said it hoped to rally support throughout the state for reductions in the proposed 72-billion-dollar federal budget.

If citizens will stop pressuring Congress for unnecessary spending, Garth A. Shoemaker, survey president said yesterday, "a tax cut for all of us is possible soon—maybe even this year."

Shoemaker contended in a statement that excess spending in the proposed budget totaled at least five to seven million dollars.

He said there could be a $4,700,000,000 surplus for reducing both the national debt and taxes if the new budget were held to this year's level of 69 billion dollars. This, he estimated, could lead to a possible 15 per cent cut in individual income taxes.

The survey's campaign slogan is "I'll take less from government, if government takes less from me." The organization is distributing lapel buttons proclaiming "I'll Take Less."

3rd Coast Guard Auxiliary Plans Social Gathering

The Third Coast Guard District Auxiliary, Northern Area, announced today that the 12th annual rendezvous of the auxiliary will be held in Manasquan Inlet, Point Pleasant, N. J., July 27 and 28.

Auxiliary division captains, who represent the more than 2,300 boatmen from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Vermont, accepted the invitation for the site of the rendezvous from Mayor Henry Moore of Point Pleasant. There are 1,338 Coast Guard Auxiliary vessels in the northern area.

Jersey Group Hosts

Commodore Bliss Woodward of 714 Stewart street, Mamaroneck, has designated the Jersey Shore Division as host unit under the leadership of Captain Ray Swann of 13 Woodland drive, Brentwoods, N. J.

Past District Vice-Commodore James E. Williamson of 62 Patterson avenue, Hempstead, L. I., will serve as general chairman of the rendezvous committee which will be composed of members of the auxiliary and the Greater Point Pleasant Chamber of Commerce.

The concentration of auxiliary boats, aside from its social aspects, is intended to inform the boating public of the program of the Coast Guard Auxiliary in promoting safety on the water. Qualified auxiliary examiners in all major boating areas in the United States provide public instruction courses on seafaring and courtesy motorboat examinations for all pleasure boat owners.

Plans are being formulated for an interesting and diversified program of boating activity during the weekend with a formal fleet review scheduled for Saturday afternoon, July 27. There will be a dinner dance at the Sea Girt Inn that evening.

Runs Over Buffalo

Ruidoso, N. M., April 15 (AP)—Paul Adam Cooter has a rare distinction in the traffic annals of the state of New Mexico. He's probably the only man in the history of automobile travel in the state who has ever run over a Buffalo. Cooter, of Roswell, N. M., told state policeman R. W. Driggers he was driving east of here last night on U. S. 70-280, returning home after spending the day on an outing in the Sacramento mountains. He said he passed a car and saw, standing in the middle of the highway, a genuine American Bison. Unable to stop, he struck the animal broadside, killing it instantly.

Youth Is Rescued From Icy Lake, Boat Capsized

Rome, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—A group of men teamed up yesterday to rescue a 17-year-old youth who clung for a half hour to his overturned boat in the icy water of Lake Delta.

Eugene McLaughlin of Rome said a sudden gust of wind capsized his outboard motorboat.

Paul Deely, 24, also of Rome, tied a rope around his waist and swam 125 feet to reach McLaughlin. The other end of the rope was held by a group of men on shore, who pulled both to safety.

McLaughlin estimated he had been in the water 30 to 45 minutes. He suffered exposure and was admitted to Rome Hospital. Deely was discharged after an examination by hospital doctors.

Deely and the other rescuers left a tavern to go to McLaughlin's aid. They were told of his plight by a motorist who spotted the youth in the 60-foot-deep water.

Cites Travel Saving

Albany, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—Comptroller Arthur Levitt said today that New York would save $500,000 a year by providing state cars for employees traveling on official business, instead of letting them use their own and draw mileage.

The comptroller's office decided last year that travel savings were possible. Levitt said, and 154 automobiles were bought for the Agriculture Department. Another 375 were purchased this year for the Departments of Labor and Public Works. The cars are made available for the 1,014 state employees who travel more than 12,000 miles a year on official business. The state had been allowing eight cents a mile for travel in personally owned cars.

Mortgage Banker Sees Better Year For More Homes

New York, April 15 (AP)—The president of the Mortgage Bankers Assn. of America said today the home construction slump has "just about hit the low point."

John F. Austin Jr. of Houston, Tex., association head forecast 900,000 to one million housing starts this year. That compares with 1,093,900 last year.

Austin's remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery at the association's eastern mortgage conference.

"I expect," said Austin, "that the rate of (home construction) activity will be turning up from the present low level and that it will become progressively better as the year advances, pointing to a further upturn in 1958."

Austin also said it appears that interest rates have reached a peak. But he said it would "be unwise to assume that any such easing of money or costs or availability as occurred in 1954 is now in prospect."

"It is altogether probable," he added, "that we are well into a long, long period of relatively expensive money, compared to what we became used to during the last 25 years."

Police Lend a Hand

Oklahoma City, April 15 (AP)—For want of a witness a wedding was almost lost. Justice of the Peace Wendell Foster was redecorating his courtroom here when a young couple entered and requested him to marry them. There were no witnesses and even a trip to the street failed to turn up any. The resourceful Foster telephoned the police department, which promptly dispatched officers G. L. Englebert and Paul C. Ming who witnessed the ceremony.

REAR-END DRIVE—Apparently taking a cue from a German automobile, designers of this "RW-3 Multiplane" put the 65-horsepower Porsche motor in the rear of the fuselage and the propeller (arrow) inside a tail fin slot. The plane, latest post-war German model, is designed primarily as a trainer and can be used as a glider. It is shown in test flight over the Rhine River, near Cologne.

Neighbor: Say, your new Olds sure looks like a lot of car!
Olds Owner: That's nothing, wait'll you take a ride.

(A few minutes later:)

Neighbor: Man-oh-man, where'd all that power come from? I've never felt anything like that before!
Olds Owner: That's Oldsmobile's new J-2 Rocket Engine!
Neighbor: What's that? Tell me how it works.

Olds Owner: When you're driving under ordinary conditions, it uses only one carburetor. That means economy with a capital E. But when you need a sudden burst of power, for safety's sake, you just press the accelerator three-quarters of the way down—and two additional carburetors cut in!

Neighbor: In other words, with J-2, you can have economy when you want it and power when you need it. That's for me!

Olds Owner: Better see your Olds dealer. He's expecting you!

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Hansen of Oak street, Forest Glen Park, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son at Benedictine Hospital April 13.

Art Instructor To Hold Exhibit

Larry Argiro, associate professor of art, in the New Paltz State Teachers College, has been invited by the New Paltz Savings Bank to exhibit his mosaics for two weeks at the bank, April 8-19.

Mr. Argiro has been experimenting with mosaics for many years, and has done much to revive the interest in this oldest form of art by his demonstrations, lectures and articles written on the subject. Much of his work is done with Byzantine, Venetian glass and semi-precious stones, some of which are imported from Italy.

Many of his pieces are in private collections including the National Broadcasting Company, the Golden Nugget in Nevada and a 30 foot mural in the new high school at Hudson Falls. His work has also been featured in leading home making magazines throughout the country.

Mr. Argiro works with assurance and conviction and is able to convey many moods. In some of his works there is great strength and boldness, and so in others there is much delicacy and gentleness. In all his works there is fine composition, grace of line and beauty in color.

AP Reporter Finds Portugal Fascinating; Mealtime Is Elaborate; 14 Courses Served

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press

Lisbon, April 16 (AP)—I had to come to Portugal to find out that there is very little new under the sun.

For instance, the Portuguese have been doing the rock 'n' roll for centuries, only they call it the Fandango. And so you thought contour plowing and land reclamation were modern? You ought to see a Portuguese mountain with precise green wheat fields planted all the way to the top, with scientific windbreaks and sculptured furrows.

The Portuguese rock 'n' roll dance was part of a floor show at a restaurant in Salvaterra, some 30 miles from Lisbon, where on Sundays they serve a seven-course meal all day long, with peasant songs and dances by local boys and girls, music by a Flamenco orchestra and at the end of it all a do-it-yourself bullfight in the back yard.

As our sightseeing bus drew up at the little restaurant, it was immediately surrounded by six local cowboys and a matador proudly sitting his dancing horse, the silver saddle mounting glittering in the hot noon-day sun.

Portuguese cowboys would not be recognized in America. They wear bright green stocking caps with a red band around the edge, white shirts, red vests and cummerbunds, tight knee breeches of dark blue with brass buttons, and long white knitted socks with fancy cable-stitching.

This resplendent turnout was a guard of honor for the visitors. Inside we were seated at tables strewn with red and white roses, and the fun began. On stage were the Fandango dancers and the Flamenco orchestra, consisting of two accordions and a piano. Both dancers and musicians were children recruited from nearby farms, where bull-raising is the chief occupation.

The girls wore bright red or green skirts with elaborately embroidered aprons in gay contrasting tones, vivid scarfs or little flower hats, white blouses and knee-length white wool socks without any feet. The dancing is done barefoot. Boys were the cowboys who had greeted us outside.

As the astonishing meal unfolded, the dancers took turns in groups of four or six, doing their traditional dances. But the most popular, the one in which the customers join in and clap hands and shout, is simply the Portuguese version of rock 'n' roll in fancy dress. American boys and girls could take a few lessons from these stamping, swaying, clapping dancers, who assured us that this was something that had been going on in Portugal for many generations.

Fabulous Lunches

American night club impresarios also might take note of both the menu and the entertainment at Salvaterra. Our meal started with the local port, then chicken soup, followed by broiled swordfish and new potatoes. At this point I supposed lunch was over. Silly old me! Next came veal and ham topped with a fried egg and flanked by shoe-string potatoes. And after that, believe it or not, arrived a course of chicken cooked in wine, served with more broiled potatoes and a salad. Then, of course, there were two desserts—rice custard followed by sliced oranges, with coffee and Portuguese brandy as the finale. Pitchers of local red and white wine were placed between every two plates. And the price of all this? Two dollars, American money.

Lunch took until 4 p. m., and afterward the customers regaled to vantage places on balconies overlooking the back-yard bullring, where one and all were invited to learn bullfighting. After one look at the snorting, charging bull, most of us timid Americans ducked to points of safety, but a village youth tried his luck, and after the bull had him down and was about to gore him thoroughly, he was saved. The loyal matador, magnificent in a pink flowered silk coat and tight pants, rushed in to seize the bull's horns in his bare hands, wrestled the beast to the ground and then twisted his tail, while the spectators screamed.

For a visiting American housewife it was quite a day. Ole! Creamed green peas benefit from chervil. A quarter-teaspoon of the dried crushed herb will be about right for four servings.

WHEN BOX OF CANDY IS PASSED AROUND

A mother writes me as follows: "The other afternoon while my daughter and I were visiting in the house of a friend, the hostess passed around a box of candy. When it was passed to my daughter she looked at each piece before selecting one that she liked, instead of just taking any piece. I told her later that while it was all right to do this at home, when offered candy in someone else's house it was bad manners to look the candy over. Of course she thinks I am just picking on her. Don't you agree, Mrs. Post, that this is bad manners?"

If she fingered the candy or took a very long time in selecting a piece, then you are right. But if she merely looked at them quickly before choosing one that she liked, it was not wrong.

Breaking a Date

Dear Mrs. Post: When people say they are coming to see me on such and such a day and time, is there any excuse then for not letting me know should they not be able to come? The excuse such a person gave me was that she didn't bother because I had said I was going to be in on that day. Even so, wouldn't it be better to have called me?

Answer: It would have been thoughtful of her to telephone you to say that she wasn't coming so that you would be free to go out if you wanted to. On the other hand, I can't say that she was really discourteous considering that you told her you were going to be at home anyway.

When Present Is Unsuitable

Dear Mrs. Post: When one receives a gift such as a lamp, table, picture or any other item intended to be useful and decorative but which, as it happens, is neither in our particular house, does one have to use it in order to avoid being rude?

Answer: I am sorry to say that courtesy demands that you use it in whatever way you possibly can.

League Aids Easter Seal Campaign Here

Members of the Easter Seal Committee voted recently to acknowledge the outstanding work done by members of Junior League of Kingston during the Easter Seal appeal.

Mrs. William Schiff, who acted as chairman for the league in this project, had volunteered working daily compiling and totaling returns from Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties. They mailed out more than 135,000 letters.

Easter Seals offer assistance and help to all crippled and handicapped children and adults. Local services are made available through Larry Bogert, county chairman upon recommendation of a family physician.

During the past year, 9,882 crippled children and 2,927 handicapped adults were assisted in New York state. These services are provided by professional and technical personnel in diagnostic clinics, rehabilitation centers and sheltered workshops. These would include the Eastern New York Orthopedic Hospital, Schenectady, Children's Hospital, Utica and Albany Hospital.

The committee chairman of the drive also urged that those who have not mailed their donations do so during this week.

Canas Conference Held in Rosendale

St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, was host to a Canas Conference Sunday evening at St. Peter's auditorium which was attended by 46 couples.

The Rev. Charles H. Doyle, author, lecturer and chaplain of Ladycliff College, Highland Falls, assisted by the Rev. William McSweeney, OMI, of Our Lady of Hope Seminary, Newburgh, were the speakers.

The conference was sponsored by the Christian family groups of Ulster county, of which Mr. and Mrs. Leonard O'Reilly of Kingston are regional directors.

The Rev. Vincent DePaul Mulry is pastor of St. Peter's Church, and the Rev. Donald Reidy, assistant, is chaplain of the Rosendale CFM.

Father Doyle discussed the husband-wife relationship in marriage and pointed out the primary purpose of marriage is the procreation of children. He said many marriages fail because that purpose is not recognized.

He noted that love is a matter of the will and quoted St. Thomas who said, "Love is a desire to do something good for someone else."

Father McSweeney discussed parent-child relationship and noted that every birth is proof of the work of God, with the mother the passive agent in that work. It is the obligation of parents to continue God's work after birth, Father McSweeney said, in the education and rearing of their children.

Children mirror parents, he said, and it is necessary to form good habits in offspring, both physical and spiritual, and these good habits will prevail in later years.

Since children are helpless at birth, Father McSweeney noted, it is the parents duty to help them mature and be independent.

Refreshments were served after the conference and the couples attended solemn benediction in St. Peter's Church.

Firemen's Work Bill Signed, City Force Not Affected

A measure signed by Gov. Harriman over the weekend providing a 56-hour work week for firemen by 1962, affects communities with longer working hours for firemen, but will have no effect on cities like Kingston where the shorter work week has been effective for about seven years, it was noted today.

The firemen also, through the legislation, gain a vacation period of 21 instead of 14 days after five years of service.

Fire Chief James M. Brett said local firemen have been on the equivalent of a 56-hour work week since 1950.

The bill to cut the firemen's work week applies to localities having five or more paid firemen putting in more than 56 hours a week. The measure specifies that the extra hours must be cut 25 per cent a year for the next four years.

The law does not apply to New York city, Buffalo firemen have been on a 56-hour week for some time. A number of cities and villages have work schedules of less than 56 hours, but some communities have as many as 72 hours.

The bill was sponsored by two

Niagara Falls Republicans, Sen. Earl W. Bridges and Assemblyman Ernest Curto. Their original bill called for a 40-hour week, but in mid-session it was changed to 56.

The bill to liberalize firemen's vacation schedules was introduced by Sen. Gilbert Selby of Saratoga county and Assemblyman Lawrence W. Van Cleaf of Seneca county, Republicans.

Wants It Understood

New York, April 15 (AP)—Dr. Henry M. Scheer says he wants it known that reports of his death are inaccurate. He said his family has received more than 50 telephone calls, letters and telegrams of condolence. He is worried that his practice will dwindle because patients won't call if they think him dead. The misunderstanding arose when another Dr. Henry Scheer died recently. The death notice appeared in newspapers. That started the trouble for the living Dr. Scheer. Scheer said some of his friends attended the funeral of the other doctor and have stopped his wife on the street to offer sympathy.

To Restore Chapel

Tuskegee, Ala., April 15 (AP)—A drive to rebuild its historic chapel that was destroyed by fire recently was launched yesterday by Tuskegee Institute in connection with Founder's Day. More than 3,000 persons attended the Founder's Day program at the widely known Negro school which Booker T. Washington established in 1881. President Eisenhower sent his greetings. Eisenhower wired, "Tuskegee Institute has made important contributions to education both in the United States and around the world." The President's message was delivered by Rep. Francis P. Bolton (R.-Ohio), a member of the Tuskegee board of trustees.

"RUN DOWN"

By Charles A. Weaver, D.C.
We often unconsciously compare our own body mechanisms to that of a watch. You've heard people say, "I'm run down." Why not carry the analogy one step further? When a watch is run down and doesn't work properly, we have it adjusted. We can do the same for the body through Chiropractic adjustments.

The result in both cases is the same. The watch and the body are both made up of hundreds of tiny parts all of which must be meshed together in perfect co-ordination and balance, with nothing to impede the flow of vital energy. The mainspring of the watch is its "brain." In human beings, the brain is the "mainspring" of all our action, conscious or unconscious. Our system of interlocking gears, to transmit vital impulses from the brain, is our spinal cord and nerves.

Shock, fatigue, a fall, any one of a hundred causes, can throw the spine off balance, interfering with the nerves running from the brain to the other organs of the body. When we're "run down," it's a symptom that, like our watches, we need "adjusting." The Chiropractor corrects the distortion that has altered or obstructed the nerve system, thus allowing the body to return to normal health. This same system of correction applies to most diseases of the human body. It can be instrumental in preventing illness by regular Chiropractic check-ups.

(One in a series of articles written in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic. Published by The Charles A. Weaver Chiropractic Office, 602 Delaware Ave., Kingston, N. Y. Phone Kingston 3892.)—ADV.

Wrong Church

Liberty, Mo., April 15 (AP)—Someone forgot to tell the police escort that the bishop was Methodist. Despite a late plane and a wrong turn, Bishop Eugene M. Frank of St. Louis made it here just in time for a service in his honor yesterday. The escort was arranged for the 15-mile trip from Kansas City to Liberty when his plane landed at Kansas City behind schedule. The escorting patrolman, told only that Frank was a bishop, led the Catholic Church, seven blocks from Liberty Methodist. The wrong turn was soon righted and Bishop Frank pulled up in time to join the procession.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—More than 3,000 Bell Aircraft Corp. employees, members of the United Auto Workers Union, have unanimously approved a new contract with the company providing for wage increases up to 17 cents an hour and other benefits. The new, 22-month contract provides for pay raises of 7 to 10 cents an hour beginning tomorrow and an across-the-board increase of seven cents an hour beginning May 15, 1958. Members of Local 501 of the UAW approved the contract yesterday at a meeting in Memorial Auditorium. The union represents some 8,000 production and maintenance workers at plants in Buffalo, the nearby town of Wheatfield and Niagara Falls.

Search for Fliers

Ridgeland, S. C., April 15 (AP)—Naval personnel, marines and sheriff's officers today searched a tideland swamp near here for signs of four navy fliers missing with a two-engine plane since Thursday. Bits of wreckage found in the area Saturday and yesterday were "identified definitely" as from the plane, a Grumman UF amphibian, the navy at Jacksonville, Fla., said. But no major components of the plane—engines, wings and fuselage—or bodies have been found.

Report 14 Slain

Colombo, Ceylon, April 15 (AP)—Ceylonese police reported today 14 persons were murdered during Sinhalese New Year celebrations on this island Saturday and Sunday. One official attributed the killings—most of them by gunfire—to liquor and a heat wave which is "making the people highly irritable." The Sinhalese, descendant of Ceylon's ancient kings, make up about five-eighths of the island's population of eight million.

Slaying of Man Remains Mystery

Elmira, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—The slaying of a 23-year-old glass-worker remained veiled in mystery here today.

Police officials and the district attorney's office declined to divulge any information about the shooting of Richard C. Stocum. District Attorney Paul H. McCabe told newsmen yesterday only that the investigation was continuing.

Stocum, shot several times in the head, was found slumped in the front seat of his automobile early Saturday morning. The car was in a field about 300 feet from a highway just across the city line in the town of Big Flats.

Dr. M. Eugene Pittman, Chemung county coroner, issued a certificate of homicide.

Police said Saturday that no weapon was found in or near Stocum's auto.

Stocum, a glazier in an Elmira glass company, lived with his wife and one-year-old son in a trailer park in nearby Sullivanville.

He reportedly cashed a pay check in an Elmira tavern Friday night.

Police, however, would not confirm the report or disclose whether any money was found on his body.

Members of Stocum's family described him as a carefree, happy-go-lucky person. They said they knew of no possible motive for the slaying.

The Mature Parent

The Rule for Winning a Child's Love Is Simple

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Though the bus was crowded, half of the seat in front of me was still available.

Then, on a new surge of passengers, it became occupied. A young mother carrying a small girl, about two years old, deposited her in the seat. She just had time to give her a packet of peppermints and a reassuring "I'll be right behind you" when the crowd shoved her past us to the rear of the bus.

The small girl relaxed. Wiggling back more comfortably in her seat, she set herself to unwrap her candy. But the stiff folds of its silver foil wrapping resisted her. After a moment's struggle with it, she looked hopefully at the middle-aged woman who sat beside her.

But she got no help. Instead of opening the candy for her, her neighbor said, "You do it. Just pull the paper away, a little piece at a time."

The small girl stared for a moment. Then, obediently she went back to work on the candy wrapper. When, after several pulls, a piece finally tore off, she looked to her seat mate for new guidance.

"Good," the woman said, "Go on."

Six blocks later, when the small girl achieved her first peppermint, her friend gave her a little round of applause.

Instead of putting the candy in her mouth, the small girl leaned back against the seat, the peppermint forgotten, to beam devotedly upon her friend. She went on beaming at her when her mother suddenly appeared to pick her up. She kept her eyes fixed unwaveringly on her as she was borne to the exit. Out on the street, she dragged back on her mother's hand to keep the friend's face still in sight.

But what impressed me most was what happened as our bus slid away from the curb. That small girl of not more than two years suddenly tore her hand free from her parent's to wave goodbye to the woman who sat in front of me.

The rule for winning a child's love is simple. You permit him to experience his own powers instead of parading your own "helpfulness."

"We have faith in others' potentialities," writes psychoanalyst Erich Fromm, "only to the degree to which we have experienced growth of our own potentialities."

Parents who must always be showing off their "helpfulness" to children do so out of suspicion of it.

PHOENICIA NEWS

Boy Scout Troop 60 Will List Activities

Phoenicia, April 12 — Troop 60, Boy Scouts of America, will publish a Scout-A-Log each month listing the activities and meetings of the troop. The April issue lists the executive committee as follows: H. Bernstein, chairman; H. Segelken, treasurer; the Rev. E. Estes, secretary; L. Byer, institutional representative; Malcolm Black, scoutmaster; E. Loveless, the Rev. R. Davis and B. Guglielmetti.

Scouts meet every Monday at 7 p. m. in the Phoenicia Firehouse.

Four boys of the area attained the rank of Tenderfoot January 28, Sven Johnson, Joseph Guglielmetti, George and Richard Loveless. The night of March 18 saw the investiture of five new boys to the Troop, J. Bruni, L. Lane, W. Bachor, S. Brewster and F. Ecker.

Tentative plans are being considered as to the possibility of a camp for the troop this coming summer.

According to the Log, thinly populated areas present a problem to Scouting activities and the Phoenicia troop, which is drawing from miles around is trying to find a solution to the problem. Traffic, distance and evening meetings preclude the use of bicycles or walking so the Log suggests that each parent volunteer to drive Scouts to meetings in his or her area once a month.

The Log expresses the thanks and appreciation of the troop to the Phoenicia Fish and Game Club and the Rotary Club for their donations of a camping cook-stove and generous financial contributions and to the staff of Onteora School for the publication of "Scout-A-Log."

Saugerties C of C Meets Wednesday, To Hear Reports

Activity reports outlining plans for the annual membership campaign and the Miss Saugerties Pageant will be heard at the regular meeting of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in the Exempt's Firemen's rooms of Saugerties Municipal Building.

The membership kick-off breakfast will be scheduled following the mailing of invitation letters to area businessmen who are non-members.

Anyone Eligible

According to Albert J. Cawein, executive secretary, any individual, merchant, business and professional man and industry representative is welcome to join the Chamber whether solicited by letter or not.

Non-members who have not been approached are apparently not listed with the Chamber. If you are unknown in the area, listing with the local Chamber is a good investment, Mr. Cawein said.

Many times inquiries received at the Chamber office come from firms or individuals wishing to do business with a Saugerties area firm. If the business or individual is not listed and unknown to the Chamber office many times a valuable contact or business for the area is lost and goes elsewhere, he said.

Anyone interested in membership in the local Chamber may contact Vice-president Willett C. Overbaugh, chairman of the membership drive.

Shokan

Shokan, April 13—Marbletown residents calling here Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Davis and children of Atwood.

A bus load of pupils from Onteora School were shown the workings of the Shokan Telephone Company building Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Cornwell Longyear, former Shokan resident, writes from New Mexico that all fruit except apples and sour cherries are a total loss as a result of the late 20 degree freeze there. Lilac buds three inches long were frozen, she reported.

Birthdays celebrated this month include Ray Cudney's on Tuesday. Mr. Cudney was a long time resident of Ashokan.

prior to moving to Kingston several years ago.

Herman Boyle of Kingston called here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert returned from a winter vacation in Hollywood, Fla.

The Rev. Benjamin Scholten and Mrs. Scholten of Kingston attended the Wednesday meeting of the Ladies Aid Society in Shokan Reformed church hall.

Booth Pendleton of Kingston was a recent caller here.

Condition Improved After Car Overturns

Paris, April 15 (AP)—Slight improvement was reported today in the condition of Francoise Sagan, French 21-year-old whose teen-age sex novel "Bonjour Tristesse" won her international fame and fortune. The young writer was seriously injured yesterday when her British racing car overturned near Paris.

Doctors said Miss Sagan suffered severe shock and internal injuries when her car somersaulted on a clear road and lapped upside down in a field. The novelist was driving. Three passengers with her—two men and a woman—were injured only slightly.

Taken to a Paris clinic, Miss Sagan sank into a coma and was placed in an oxygen tent. Early today the clinic reported she was in a "stationary condition." However, she was reported showing signs of recovering from the shock condition, apparently realized where she was, and muttered a few words.

Idlewild Radar Damaged by Fire

New York, April 15 (AP)—Radar equipment at Idlewild Airport will be out of operation for at least a week because of damage suffered in a fire in the control tower last night, the Civil Aeronautics Administration reported today.

C. J. Stock, CAA chief of air traffic control, said the lack of radar operations at the airport could cause only "minor delays," of flight arrivals and departures during good weather.

He said that in case of extremely bad weather, some flights might have to be diverted to other airports, where radar is in operation.

Operative in a Week
Robert M. Brown, CAA chief of air navigation, estimated damage at from $1,000 to $5,000. He said he hoped the radar would be back in operation in about a week.

The fire occurred in a temporary wood wall that had been erected outside of the radar room on the seventh floor of the tower.

Brown said it was not known at this time just what caused the fire. He said the damage to the radar equipment was caused by water and foamite used to extinguish the blaze.

The fire disabled the airport's surveillance radar, which shows the position of aircraft in the immediate vicinity of the airport, and the precision approach radar, which shows the position and altitude of aircraft immediately before landing, on the instruments runway.

MAYOR CUTS RIBBON AT BANK—Mayor Frederick H. Stang cuts ribbon officially opening the handsome, completely remodeled Ulster County Savings Institution at 280 Wall street. (L-R) Chester Baltz, Sr., trustee, Pratt Boice, president, Mayor Stang and Harry Halverson, architect. At the opening of the bank Saturday afternoon approximately 5,000 people thronged through the spacious new quarters, including the huge vault itself. Victor H. Roth, treasurer, said the bank was "swamped" for several hours after it opened at 2 p. m. He said the bank had 2,500 orchids on hand for the ladies but that the supply was exhausted before the doors closed at 7 p. m. In brief remarks before cutting the ribbon, Mayor Stang described the bank as "one of the bulwarks of the community" and that it carried prestige everywhere. He said the institution would continue to carry on in the "same splendid tradition" and that in another 50 years it would still be an important cog in the wheel of Kingston's progress. In addition to Mr. Halverson, the following contractors had a part in the remodeling: Colonial Construction Co., general contractor; Leninger & Cwill, plumbing; John D. Krusher Estate, electric; Cohn & Kramer, Albany, heat and air conditioning; Otis Elevator, elevator; The Wonderly Co., drapes; Leo Yonetti, painting; J. A. Cassidy & Son, millwork; Henry A. Olsen, roofing; Thomas Fitzgerald, marble and tile; Island Dock, steel; Kingston Glass Co., glass; Colonial Carpet, carpets. (Freeman photo).

Eden Satisfactory 6 Hurt

Is Hospital Report
Boston, April 15 (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden was reported today to have spent a satisfactory night with adequate sleep and that his early response to Saturday's operation for a bile duct obstruction "has been good."

Dr. Richard B. Catell, the surgeon who performed the operation at New England Baptist Hospital, signed the daily bulletin along with Dr. John W. Norcross, his associate in the Lahey Clinic.

Sir Horace Evans, Eden's personal physician who observed the operation, was back in London today and said doctors hoped Eden might be out of the hospital in three weeks.

It was Eden's fourth operation in as many years. Dr. Catell had inserted an artificial biliary tube here in June of 1953 after two operations for a gall bladder condition had been performed in London.

Doctors thought they would find the tube in Saturday's surgery but it had passed from Eden's system. It was not necessary to insert another tube.

Saturday's bulletin issued after the operation said no malignancy was found.

Sir Richard said in London the pressure certainly was relieved by the operation.

Eden is being fed intravenously and it was believed he will not be given solid food for several days.

OLD FOLKS HOME FIRE—Firemen and policemen prepare to lower a body from an upper story of an old folks home in suburban Montreal, Quebec, April 13, after a fire swept through the structure. The death toll may reach 17, with 13 bodies already having been found. A short circuit is believed to have caused the fire. (AP Wirephoto).

Chamber Says U.S. Aid Not Needed To Stimulate Work

Washington, April 15 (AP)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce said today 19 areas, previously plagued by unemployment, have lifted themselves by their own bootstraps.

Their successful efforts, without federal help, demonstrate that a special federal aid program for depressed areas is unnecessary, the chamber contended in testimony prepared for a senate banking subcommittee considering such legislation.

Spokesman for the chamber was Robert P. Lee, chairman of the Connecticut Development Commission.

Lee said there now are no major areas with unemployment equaling 12 per cent of the work force.

"For a country of our size and diversity," he said, "this is a remarkable record. . . (Which) stands as irrefutable evidence that a special federal program for localized unemployment problems at a time of national prosperity is unnecessary."

However, Thomas Kennedy, vice president of the United Mine Workers, voiced support for the depressed areas legislation, terming it "a step in the right direction."

Speaks for Miners
In prepared testimony, Kennedy said there are 175,000 unemployed coal miners, most of them in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois.

The UMW official proposed unlimited unemployment compensation benefits for persons who are jobless through no fault of their own. And he urged quota restrictions on imports of residual oil, a federal coal research program and formulation of a national fuels policy.

Lee, the chamber spokesman, cited a "highly promising" alternative to federal aid, the state-wide, privately financed development credit corporations in New England, New York, North Carolina and elsewhere.

He said these corporations sell stock to business firms and individuals interested in fostering industrial development in a state. Private lending institutions then commit a fixed percentage of their funds to loans by the corporations. Many of these loans, he said, have relieved unemployment in depressed areas.

Lee said this system has resulted in sound business loans tending to produce permanent and expanding job opportunities, without any element of subsidy.

Nats Face Orioles in Opening Game of Major League Season

Brown to Oppose Chakales on Hill In Washington

The Associated Press
Baltimore and Washington, neither a serious challenger for the American League pennant, had the stage all to themselves as the 1957 Major League baseball season got under way today with the traditional solo opener in the nation's capital.

A pair of run-of-the-mill right-handers, Hector Brown (9-7) of the Orioles and Bob Chakales (4-4) of the Senators were poised for the inaugural but not before a much more noted pitcher, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, threw out the first ball. Eisenhower, also a right-hander, boasts a 2-2 record in four appearances for Washington. A crowd of 28,000 was expected to watch the game in sunny but cool weather.

Following this sneak preview, the majors will roll into high gear tomorrow (Tuesday) with all teams active as the National League starts its 82nd season and the American its 57th.

Yankees Heavy Favorites
As is customary, a new year brings new players, new managers and new rules but one thing hasn't changed. The New York Yankees remain a prohibitive favorite as they set out for their third straight pennant and eighth in nine years under manager Casey Stengel. In fact, most experts are predicting the Bronx Bombers will have an easier time last year when they spread-eagled the field by nine games.

The odds-makers have made them 2-5 favorites, shortest on record. Selecting the Yankees' World Series opponent, however, is another matter. All observers expect another tight race in the National League with Milwaukee a slight favorite over Brooklyn and Cincinnati. This trio fought it right down to the wire last year with the Dodgers edging out the Braves by one game and the Redlegs by two.

The experts don't give the other teams much of a chance unless the Yankees should run into an endless run of injuries or a "dark horse" team like the St. Louis Cardinals should get hot and receive the maximum out of its pitchers.

New Managers
By a strange coincidence the three clubs expected to provide the sternest opposition to the Yankees, will be under the leadership of new managers. Kerby Farrell, after a 10-year apprenticeship in the minor leagues, has replaced Al Lopez in Cleveland. Lopez, who never finished lower than second in six years with the Indians, has moved over to Chicago. Jack Tighe, a hustling, fiery-type, has succeeded mild-mannered Bucky Harris at Detroit, moving up from his job as Tiger coach.

The other new manager is Bob Scheffing, who has inherited Stan Hack's last place problems with the Chicago Cubs. Weather permitting, the two-day program probably will attract around 275,000 spectators, 28,000 of them to Griffith Stadium today. All openers will be played in the afternoon with the exception of the Dodger-Phillie game, which is a night affair in Philadelphia.

Seven of the 16 pitchers who had opening day assignments last year were slated to be back on the mound today and tomorrow. The group is headed by Robin Roberts, who will be handling his eighth straight inaugural job when the Phillies open at home against the Dodgers. Roberts will be opposed by 27-game winner Don Newcombe, whom he defeated 8-6 last year in the 1956 opener.

Same Rivals
The same pitching rivals who faced each other last year also are due in the Giants-Pirates game at Pittsburgh. Johnny Antonelli (20-13), will be opposed by Bob Friend (17-17). Pittsburgh's brilliant right-hander, who dropped a 4-3 decision to the Giants' ace southpaw last year.

Milwaukee will send veteran southpaw Warren Spahn (20-11) against Bob Rush (13-10) in Chicago. Last year Lew Burdette defeated Rush 6-0.

In contrast to last year when a pair of southpaws were the rival starters, the Cardinals-Reds game in Cincinnati will feature two right-handers. Herman Wehrer (12-11) will start for St. Louis. He will be opposed by Johnny Klippstein (12-11). The Cards won 4-2 last year as Vinegar Bend Mizell outpitched Joe Nuxhall.

Lary Faces Morgan
Lary, who lost a 2-1 decision to Alex Kellner last year, faces the Athletics again but this time he will be opposed by Tom Morgan (6-7), acquired by Kansas City from the Yankees last February.

Whitey Ford (19-6) has been entrusted by the Yankees to get them off on the right foot in defense of their championship. Facing him will be Chuck Stobbs (15-15), Washington's veteran southpaw who defeated the world champions three times last year. In last year's opener, Don Larson pitched the Yankees to a 10-4 triumph over Camilo Pascual.

Tom Brewer (19-9) will pitch for the Boston Red Sox Tuesday against Baltimore, which will use Bill Wright (9-12); Frank Sullivan whipped Wight and Baltimore, 8-1 in the '56 opener.

COUNTRY CLUB HAUL: Henry (Sonny) Barnes, one of the area's best known anglers, passed up familiar trout-habitats Saturday to make a nice haul in the spillway below the Woodstock Country Club pool. By noon his worm lures had accounted for six brownies and a large brook he displays for the cameraman. Later he bagged his creel limit there. (Freeman photo).

Pickings Were Slim

Cold, High Streams Spoil Trout Opening

Area anglers experienced little luck on the most part in the first two days of trout season.

A survey of local tackle shops and sporting goods stores this morning indicates that pickings were slim over the weekend.

Cold weather coupled with high and roily water hindered fishermen and kept many of them away from the streams. Example of this was the sub-par turnouts at normally popular spots like the Ashokan Reservoir and streams at Mt. Tremper and Phoenicia. A father and son act stole the spotlight among the early enthusiasts. Henry (Sonny) Barnes and his son, Gary, each got their limit of 10 in the Sawkill at the Woodstock Country Club opening day.

Potter Brothers reported that Austin Avery of Port Ewen brought in seven trout measuring from eight to fourteen inches.

23-Inch Brownie
Ray Tillson called to report that Robert Worth, a 16-year-old angler, hooked on to a 23-inch brownie at the lower end of the reservoir. The catch weighed 3 pounds, 10 ounces.

Other successful fishermen, according to Tillson, were Chet Joy and Joe Cavanaugh. Joy was reported landing a 20-inch at the Downsview reservoir and Cavanaugh three fish at the same place totaling about three pounds.

Carroll's Bait Box "heard" of five or six good catches but none were reported to them. Oscar Newkirk was said to have caught eight or nine.

Mrs. Hagge's 138 Leads Dallas Golf

Dallas, April 15 (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge, the imperturbable little blonde with the deadly putter, moved back toward the top in money-winings today as she led the field by two strokes entering the final 36 holes of the $7,500 Dallas Women's open.

Continuing the putting rampage that pulled her out of ear-bag season doldrums and got her back on the trail of her fabulous 1956 record, Mrs. Hagge blistered Glen Lakes Country Club's 6,238-yards with a competitive course record 4-under-par 67 yesterday. It shot her into the lead at the halfway mark with 138 for 36 holes.

The little gal who banked $20,235 last year to lead the women money winners and who captured eight tournaments, had trouble only with her driving to start the round. But she settled down after five holes and sank putts from all distances like an automaton.

Mrs. Hagge, now registering out of Dallas, started the final 36 holes today in striking distance of a big pile of cash—it'll be $1,316—if she wins first place—and that would put her even with her 1956 pace at this stage.

In second place was Wiff Smith who shot her second straight 70 yesterday. In third place, two strokes back of Miss Smith with 142, was Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis.

LeonardCops Golf Crown

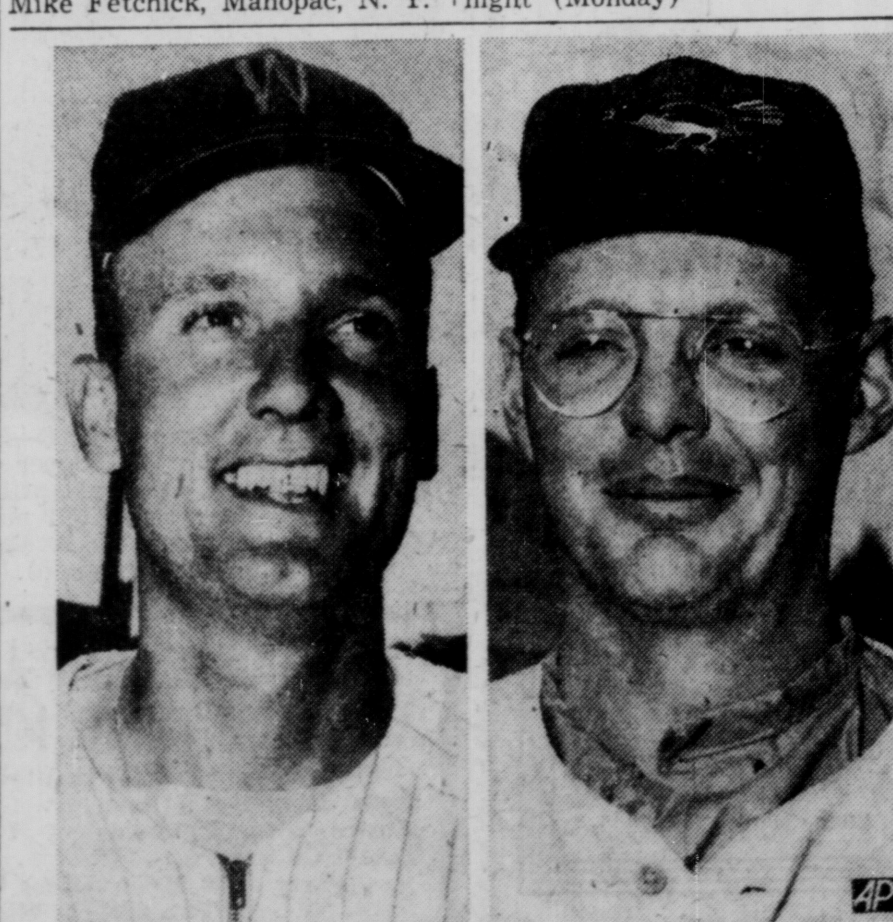

Greensboro, N. C., April 15 (AP)—Stan Leonard of Canada has found that for him, at least, life on the links does begin at 40.

He pocketed $2,000 first money in the $15,000 greatest Greensboro Open golf tournament yesterday with a 69 finish for a 276 total. It was his first victory in an American tournament in three years of circuit play.

A professional for 17 years, the balding Leonard stayed pretty close to home most of that time. He took his first fling at a tournament schedule two years back. Although he never won until yesterday, he was often in the money.

Leonard, who plays from LaChute, Canada, had a three-stroke edge over Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y. Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N. C., finished with 280 and a tie for third with young Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Doug Ford, Mahopac, N. Y., tied for the 6th place at 282 with Mike Fetchick, Mahopac, N. Y.

STARTING PITCHERS—Bob Chakales, left, of the Washington Senators, and Hector Brown, of the Baltimore Orioles, have been selected as the starting pitchers in major league baseball's season opener April 15 in Washington. Chakales had a 4-4 record last year, Brown a 9-7 record. President Eisenhower will throw out the first ball. (AP Wirephoto).

Thinks Lopez's Outfit Can Overhaul Yankees

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

New York, (NEA)—The Chicago White Sox are going to do it this year. They are going to beat the New York Yankees for the American League pennant and refresh a Subway Series-weary nation. The Cincinnati Reds will help this along by winning in the National League.

After evaluating the major league teams in training, we took our figures in hand and looked them over. They insisted the pennant races will come out like this:

AMERICAN LEAGUE	NATIONAL LEAGUE
1. Chicago	1. Cincinnati
2. New York	2. Milwaukee
3. Detroit	3. Brooklyn
4. Cleveland	4. St. Louis
5. Boston	5. New York
6. Baltimore	6. Pittsburgh
7. Kansas City	7. Chicago
8. Washington	8. Philadelphia

There's nothing which says it's mandatory to go with the Yankees and Bums just because Mickey Mantle can hit 60 home runs and Don Newcombe can sock parking lot attendants.

As long as Minnie Minsos risks his carcass to get on base (hit 23 times last year) and Nellie Fox can cram his jaw with tobacco, Senor Lopez has a dangerous club in Comiskey Park. They can run like his Indians couldn't, and the pitching could be near sensational with Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman and Dick Donovan firing. A little first basing and a lot of hitting by Larry Doby might show them on top. We say it will.

ON PAPER, THE YANKEES are—the Yankees. Casey Stengel feels this is his best team. Going against them, you automatically qualify as a premier long shot stabber. We're doing it for the simple reason it's time somebody beat them. Percentages insist they're due to lose. We like the figures—and the Chisox.

The Tigers, up a couple of notches, have a star in Al Kaline. You'll also like Jack Tighe, their refreshing manager.

Except for the pitching, Cleveland's wearing out by degrees. And how much longer can Early Wynn and Bob Lemon keep popping them by batters?

Even Ted Williams says the Red Sox are no better than fifth place and have only two pitchers, Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer, and no infield. No spat here with The Spitter.

Paul Richards is still trying to do with castoffs at Baltimore, and standing still. A rookie third baseman, Brooks Robinson, shows some potential, and Gus Triandos has it in him to become a catching standout.

If Lou Boudreau keeps getting more Yankees, they could shift the Kansas City franchise to Denver without loss of recognition. Enough class rubs off to keep them a notch above Charley Dresen's Senators, who are hopeless.

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE, the same threesome will go right down to the wire, with a reverse order of finish. Birdie Tebbetts, with the help of pitching coach Tom Ferrick, has more hurling help than anyone thinks, and all the sluggers you'd want.

Milwaukee, blessed with talent, still is weak at second and in left. The pitching, though, is the best in the majors. Every year the old Dodgers are supposed to be wearing out. They finally may this year. Pee Wee Reese, now a codger of 38, simply can't keep going, for example. Campanella's catching is still the key and he's doubtful.

Frank Lane has his St. Louis ultimatum from Gussie Busch, but another year in which to deliver. This season, he still has Stan the Man in agile shape for a first division finish.

The Giants are my darkhorse team because this may be the year Willie Mays puts it all together—hitting, running and fielding. The pitching's not bad, but the catching's weak unless a trade uncovers another receiver.

The Pirates play exciting ball behind Bobby Bragan's bold talk, but they don't have the team depth to sustain winning habits. The Chicago Cubs have Ernie Banks and a new manager, Bob Scheffing. The Phillies are headed downward as the elastic wears out of Robin Roberts' arm. The one-time Whiz Kids are woozy.

Pirates Capture Grapefruit Title On 20-10 Record

By The Associated Press
Step up and meet the champions—the Pittsburgh Pirates, no less.

The young, brave and hopeful Buccos finished the exhibition season yesterday with a 20-10 record, although they lost their finale, 4-3, to Detroit.

The Pirates had a .667 average, just a half-game ahead of the Milwaukee Braves. The standings were figured on all games, against both major league and minor league opposition.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians came out on top with a 19-14 record good for .576. The New York Yankees were second with an 18-16 mark. The Indians, of course, played most of their games against the New York Giants.

Tigers End Jinx
The Tigers, who have been losing loads of one-run games all spring, finally won one against the Pirates, mostly as a result of Jim Finigan's two-run homer and Bill Tuttle's two-run double.

The Brooklyn Dodgers polished off the Yanks, 2-1, in the Yankee Stadium, and that old Yankee-killer, Johnny Podres, held the Bombers completely in check for the first four innings to run his scoreless string against them to 21 innings starting with the last two stanzas of the third game of the 1955 World Series.

Carl Furillo singled home Pee Wee Rees and Duke Snider in the third inning with Bobby Shantz on the mound for the Yanks to give the Brooks their triumph.

In the extra-inning game of the day, the Giants toppled the Baltimore Orioles at Baltimore, 6-5. Bill Taylor was the man of the hour for the Giants, coming up in the 11th inning with a mate on base and crashing an inside-the-park homer.

Elsewhere, the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, at Boston; the Indians whipped the Braves, 5-4, at Milwaukee; the Chicago Cubs licked the Chicago Sox, 4-1, at Chicago; St. Louis and Kansas City divided a doubleheader, the Cards winning the first, 7-3, and the A's the second, 1-0, at St. Louis, and the Cincinnati Redlegs eked out a 4-3 victory over the Louisville Colonels of the American Assn. at Louisville.

Fatum KBA President; Kelder Is Secretary

Tom Orr Elected As Life Member

Kingston Bowling Association gave John Fatum unanimous designation as president for 1957-58 at its annual election meeting Sunday at the county court house.

Fatum succeeds Burgell (Whitey) Crispell. Randall Kelder was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Fatum was unopposed when Larry Petersen Jr., candidate for president on an independent ticket, declared himself out of the race. He was then named to the first vice-president's post with 152 votes to Jack Binder's 54.

In the only other contest involving the KBA slate and independents, Bob Markle was named fourth vice-president by a 164-106 margin over Ferraro.

Orr Life Member
Thomas Orr was named to life membership by a 212-44 vote, while Edward Norton was defeated in his bid, 119-106.

The makeup of the Executive Committee of the KBA for 1957-58 will be:
President — John Fatum.
First vice-president — Larry Petersen Jr.
Second vice-president — Jake Chichelsky.
Third vice-president — Dave Lesser.
Fourth vice-president — Robert Markle.
Secretary-Treasurer — Randall Kelder.

Executive Directors — Dick Waltman, John Rowland, Frank Turk, Robert Jones.

At-large representative from Rosendale will be Jerry Davis. The New Paltz delegate is Chester Smith.

Committees Appointed
A discussion on city tournament policy gave rise to speculation on the 1958 championships might be held in classes.
A special Elections Committee was named to propose new legislation governing election procedure for the 1958 convention. Four members named Sunday were William Mohr, John Frederick, Charles Forst and Milton Arlensky. The KBA will appoint the chairman.

City tournament plans and the election procedure will be discussed at an open meeting in September.
Thirty leagues with a total of 372 votes attended the meeting.

Rookies, Sophs Keys to Celtics' Title Triumph
Boston, April 15 (AP)—Boston savored its first world basketball championship today because of rookies Tom Heinsohn and Bill Russell and a pair of slick sophomores.

The are no better players in the National Basketball Assn. than men like Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman.

But when the chips were down the Celtics' younger set came through to nail down the team's first playoff championship in the 11 year history of the loop.

In the most exciting title series to date, Boston nipped St. Louis 125-123 in double overtime Saturday in the decisive seventh game.

Heinsohn scored 37 points, hitting on 17 of 33 field goal tries, and had 23 rebounds. Russell grabbed 32 rebounds and tallied 19 points.
Heinsohn was chosen NBA rookie of the year.

Frank Ramsey, on leave from the army, scored on a 20 foot one handed jump shot with 72 seconds remaining in the second overtime and Jim Loscutt put on the final touches with a free throw in the last second.

Logart-Ortega

Syracuse, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—Welterweights Isaac Logart and Gaspar Ortega will meet in a scheduled 10-round bout May 10 in the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium. Promoter Norm Rothschild announced Saturday that Logart, of Cuba, and Ortega, of Mexico, would meet in the ring for the third time. Each took a decision in their previous battles.

Full Cycle

New York (NEA) — There were 11 National League batters last season who hit a home run in every park. Five of them made it a nine-park parlay by hitting for four bases at Brooklyn's part-time Jersey City yard.

Ample Incentive

Milwaukee, Wis. (NEA)—Marquette's Johnny Druze made sure there would be plenty of fight in his annual spring intrasquad game. The winning eleven got a steak dinner, the losers a meal of baked beans.

SMILING CELTICS—Coach Red Auerbach, of the Boston Celtics, is all smiles as he leaves the shower followed by Bill Sharman, left, and Jim Loscutt after they had defeated the St. Louis Hawks 125-123 to win their first National Basketball Association championship in Boston April 13. (AP Wirephoto).

Early Thrill

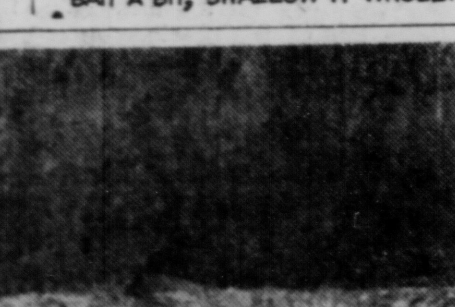

St. Louis (NEA)—When Cardinal catcher Hal Smith worked his first game behind the plate for Albany, Ga., he threw away his glove and kept on the mask in the excitement of taking an outfield throw to stop a runner from scoring.

'SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST' By Hal Sharp
BULLHEAD FISHING

USE A SWIVEL THAT IS LARGER THAN THE DIPSEY SINKER'S "EYE" TO PREVENT THE SINKER FROM SLIDING TO THE HOOK DURING A CAST. THEN SET REEL'S DRAG JUST TIGHT ENOUGH TO AVOID SLACK LINE WHILE AWAITING A FISH. WHEN THE FISH "MOUTHS" A BAIT AND SWIMS OFF WITH IT, LINE SLIPS THROUGH SINKER'S EYE, SO HE ISN'T ALARMED BY THE SINKER'S WEIGHT.

FISHERMANS' CHOICES OF HOOK SIZES VARIES FROM SMALL 6 TO LARGE 2/0. IF USING LARGE HOOKS IN MUDDY WATERS, BAIT THEM WITH 3 OR 4 LARGE NIGHT-CRAWLERS. BULLHEADS "MOUTH" BAIT A BIT, SWALLOW IT WHOLE.

PLENTY WATER, FEW FISHERMEN: The traditionally active Phoenix-Mt. Tremper stream was quiet and cold Saturday morning.

Matter of fact there were snow flakes around 11 a. m. Fishermen were scarce, trout scarcer. (Freeman Photo).

Area Navy Journalist Back From Antarctica

Returning to the U. S. aboard the icebreaker USS Glacier, scheduled to arrive in Boston, Mass., April 19, is Robert W. Dietrich, journalist first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Dietrich of Wawarsing.

He was a member of the camera crew covering the Navy South Polar activities shooting scientific, aerial and news photographs of the "Operation Deepfreeze 2nd" expedition at Wilkes Station, Antarctica.

First to Land

One of the first men to land on the unexplored Clark Peninsula in Vincennes Bay on the Wilkes Coast (on the Indian Ocean side of the Antarctica), he also took part in building the 27-man science station.

In the first days on the Peninsula, he had to spend the Antarctic summer twilight nights in a sleeping bag in order to keep tabs on early construction. Often he'd put down his camera and replace it with a pick or shovel to help Navy Seabees clear beachhead "driveways" for heavy equipment.

Arrived in Okinawa

Sergeant First Class Clarence H. Carney, whose wife, Elaine lives at 112 Osborn street, Auburn, recently arrived on Okinawa and is now assigned to the 97th Antiaircraft Artillery Group.

Sgt. Carney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Carney of Route 1, Stone Ridge, entered the Army in 1944 and was last stationed at Fort Rucker, Ala. He holds the Combat Infantryman Badge and is a veteran of service in Europe.

Completes Training

Army Pvt. James L. McGrath, son of Leo McGrath, 402 Hasbrouck avenue, recently completed eight weeks of basic combat training with the 3d Infantry Division at Fort Benning, Ga.

Pvt. McGrath, son of Mrs. Stella McGrath, 22 Mary's avenue, is a former student at Union College and a former employee of the General Electric Company of Schenectady.

WHITE EAGLE SOCIETY BREAKFAST—Members of the White Eagle Benevolent Society, Inc., held their Communion breakfast Sunday morning at the White Eagle Hall, 477 Delaware avenue. Seated (l-r) John A. Dudek, Delaware treasurer; Dr. Henry Kwasnowski, a guest; Joseph Jablonski, president; the Rev. Joseph Siczek, pastor of Immaculate Conception Church; Dr. Anthony Maureri, a guest, and Bernard A. Bujak, vice-president; standing, Edward Tomczyk, chairman; Walter Tatarzewski, financial secretary; Joseph Klonowski, secretary; Anthony Kaminski, marshal; Supervisor Joseph Turk of the Fourth Ward, and Joseph Betley, president of the Immaculate Conception Church Holy Name Society. (Freeman photo).

GIGANTIC EASTER EGG—Barbara Lee Hall, 1½ years old, takes a closer look at an Aepyornis egg in Buffalo, N. Y., April 14. She's probably wondering where she'll find a basket large enough. The egg, its real, was found on the island of Madagascar by the Buffalo Museum of Science. The bird, a gigantic ratite, is now extinct. (AP Wirephoto).

Some Stack

The average housewife will, in her lifetime, wash enough cooking and eating utensils to make about 70 stacks as high as the Empire State Building (102 stories high) in New York.

The sperm whale is the only one with a throat large enough to swallow a man.

216 Pounds Per Person

New Zealanders consume an annual average of 216 pounds of meat per person, as compared to 161 pounds per person in the United States.

In the year 1800 the average work week consisted of 84 hours in contrast to the 40-hour-week today.

Chiefs, Braves Face Women Vote Problem

Albany, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—Indian chiefs and braves in New York state, at peace for generations, may find themselves on the warpath with squaws and maidens their foes.

At issue is the right of the Indian women to vote.

Gov. Harriman signed a bill yesterday that would permit the women to vote in tribal elections provided the right is recognized by "qualified voters"—the Indian men.

Almost 70 per cent of New York's 8,500 Indians have some form of elective government.

Last October a proposal to give the women the franchise was defeated, 110-94, in a referendum among approximately 2,800 Senecas living on the Allegany and Cattaraugus reservation in western New York.

Assemblyman Leo P. Noonan, Cattaraugus county Republican, sponsored the legislation.

Urges NATO Strength

Canterbury, England, April 15—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) saved western Europe from Soviet aggression during the past eight years and must be kept strong. The time has not come when "we can hang up our shield upon the wall and abandon our vigilance," he said in a speech opening a touring NATO exhibition.

More people turn to the classified ads when they read The Kingston Daily Freeman than turn to any other page in the paper.

Past Grand Lodge Officers Group Holds Meeting

The Past Grand Lodge Officers Association of the Greene-Ulster District held its annual meeting on Thursday, April 11. The meeting and dinner was held at Schoentag's Colonial Tavern with a large attendance of Past Grand officials. The meeting was in charge of Right Worshipful Claude White, president of the association.

There were many subjects discussed at the meeting. Attention was called to the Masonic consecration breakfast of the Ulster County Lodges, to be held Sunday morning, April 28, at the Old Dutch Church, Kingston. On Sunday, May 5, the Masonic consecration breakfast of the Greene county Lodges will be held at Windham.

The following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

At this meeting recommendations were made for the office of district deputy and assistant grand lecturer of the Greene-Ulster district. The appointments of these brothers will be announced later.

Check on Jail Death

Miami, Fla., April 15 (AP)—A "full and formal" inquest April 30 was scheduled by Peace Justice Francis J. Christie yesterday into the jail cell death of Joseph Kapp, 55, of New York city Feb. 24. Christie said he was calling the inquest to "clear the air" in view of newspaper reports and dissatisfaction of Kapp's relatives with a suicide finding in an autopsy report.

Kapp, arrested on an airliner here for intoxication, was dead in a cell, his body noosed to cell door bars with his belt. He owned a New York typography firm and had been vacationing alone at Miami Beach. Christie said Kapp's widow, Mollie, her lawyer, county jailers and witnesses of Kapp's arrest had been subpoenaed for the inquest.

Pistols, revolvers or other firearms which can be concealed on the person are not permitted in U. S. mails.

Warm, Spring Air Is on the Way

Warmer, more springlike weather was in the works today from the Great Plains to the Atlantic and mostly fair skies prevailed east of the Mississippi river.

Mostly cloudy skies were indicated for the Plains states with scattered showers forecast for the extreme northern and southern fringes of the area.

Fair on Coast

The far southwest and southern Pacific coast was expected to be generally fair.

Scattered showers were in the works for most of the Pacific northwest and the central Rocky mountains. Some cooling was on tap for the central and northern Rockies.

A storm center moving through the Pacific northwest maintained a belt of overnight showers from the Pacific coast to the Rockies. Cloudy skies and generally higher temperatures were reported over the Rockies and Plains states last night while drizzle dampened southwest Texas.

Mt. Washington Coldest

Chill air moving into the far west sent the mercury down as much as 15 degrees below readings of 24 hours earlier along most coastal sections and in intermountain and plateau regions.

A warming trend continued through the night in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the lower Great Lakes but elsewhere it was colder under clearing skies.

The most pronounced cooling took place in the northern Great Lakes where the emergence of a cold air mass brought late night readings some 10 to 15 degrees lower than the previous night.

However, the coldest spot in the nation was Mt. Washington, N. H., where the mercury hit a toe-tingling one above zero.

Breezy Weather Holds Down Bonnet Preview

New York, April 15 (P)—Chilly breezes discouraged premature blossoming of Easter bonnets on Fifth Avenue yesterday.

In past years Palm Sunday often brought a preview of the Easter parade.

But yesterday a temperature in the low 40s and a gusty wind combined to keep crowds off the avenue.

Powell Criticizes Eastland, Sees Segregation End

Atlanta, April 15 (P)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (R.-N. Y.) says he believes segregation will end in the United States in six to eight years if there is effective resistance to what he called "creeping Eastlandism."

He told a mass meeting of Atlanta Negro ministers yesterday that people must stand firm against the philosophy of Sen. Eastland (D.-Miss.) which he said "has generated northern liberal thinking."

Powell said the Mississippi senator has redefined a number of good, sound Anglo-Saxon words. "Under creeping Eastlandism 'moderation' mean stop, stand still, do nothing."

"I am not against gradualism, moderation, and going slow," he continued. "But I insist that go slow at least means go, that gradualism at least means move, that moderation does not mean standstill."

Powell said integration must vary according to communities and that in some places it cannot be accomplished overnight.

"But a beginning must take place," he said. "No one can stand in Georgia and tell the north 'Look, we are making progress' and point to what is happening in Kentucky or Maryland as proof."

Cites Progress Made

The congressman said three "significant" developments have taken place in Washington in the past two years which indicate the Negro is making progress in his fight for freedom. They include:

1. The end of what he called "the unholy alliance" in Congress of northern reactionary Republicans and southern reactionary Dixiecrats. As a result, he said, liberals have been appointed to the rules committee so it can no longer "block all legislation working for the good of the American people."

2. The Southern Manifesto signed last year. This, he said, "indicated specifically, definitely and finally that there was no longer a Solid South" because such states as Kentucky, Maryland and Oklahoma refused to sign.

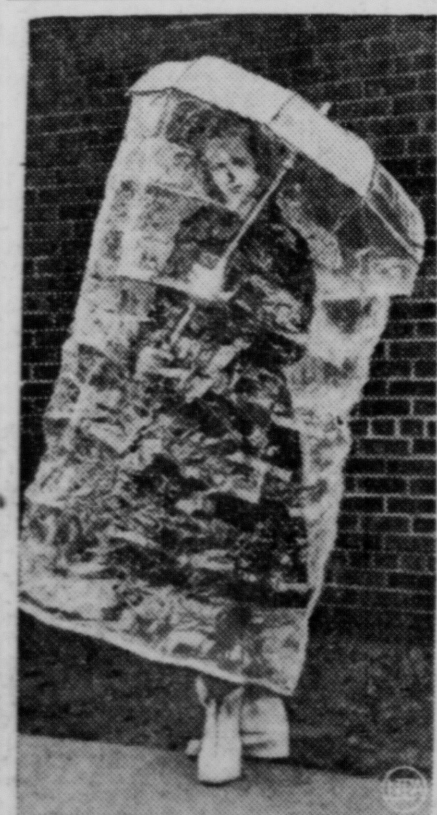

3. "The soft pedaling of Sen. Eastland by his own fellow southerners and the pushing forward as the spokesman for the south of Sen. Ervin of North Carolina." He said that "this is positive proof that the day of destiny can no longer be delayed by the voices of the demagogues."

Sets 1966 Deadline

Powell said he thought the "day of destiny" when the Negro achieves complete and full equality "should come somewhere between 1963 and 1966."

The congressman spoke to an estimated 1,000 persons in the Wheat Street Baptist Church at a meeting sponsored by the "love, law and liberation" movement headed by the Rev. William Holmes Borders, pastor of the church.

Borders was one of six Atlanta ministers arrested Jan. 10 for sitting up front in a bus in violation of Georgia's segregated seating laws. Their cases are still pending in court.

Forbes Seen GOP Choice in Jersey Governor Vote

Newark, N. J., April 15 (P)—Both candidates for the GOP nomination for governor of New Jersey predicted victory as tomorrow's state primary election came within 24 hours of proving one of them right.

State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes has the backing of most of New Jersey's county Republican organizations and is generally favored to come away with the nomination. The Somerset county senator spent yesterday resting in his home.

DuMont Presses

As the showdown neared, however, state Senator Wayne DuMont Jr. of Warren county was leaving no speech undelivered and no hand unshook in his own strong bid for the nomination.

The incumbent governor, Robert E. Meyner, is a Democrat and is unopposed in the primary.

In a radio broadcast last night, DuMont explained his up-to-the-minute campaign activity by saying: "I run scared always and never take an opponent for granted."

Appearing on the "Labor Talks It Over" program, DuMont repeated his claim that Forbes has shown "a defeatist attitude," producing "the kind of campaign that is never designed to win anything."

Predicts Victory

In predicting victory, DuMont said: "The senator from Somerset seems to take me for granted, and frankly I think that's the main reason why he's going to lose and lose badly."

Neil G. Cuffy, Forbes' campaign manager, said Saturday that a canvass of county chairmen and Forbes Club leaders showed "no doubt whatever" that the Somerset senator will win.

Duffy predicted that Forbes will carry at least 14 of the state's 21 counties and get a plurality of more than 50,000 votes.

County's Motor Fuel Tax Share Totals $71,001

Ulster county's share of the distribution of $2,852,801.56 in state motor fuel tax receipts to the 57 counties outside of New York city is $71,001.03, according to State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

This total is the share of state collected motor fuel tax for the three months ending March 31, 1957 which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the State Highway Law.

Neighboring counties' shares are: Sullivan $62,488.57; Delaware, $80,023.83; Dutchess, $53,962.56 and Greene, $38,144.97.

The law provides that 10 per cent of the statewide collection of the state's four-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax and the six-cents-a-gallon tax on diesel motor fuel are allotted to the counties on the proportional basis of county road and town highway mileage in each county. The money is earmarked by statute for deposit in the county road funds.

Unintentional!

Parkersburg, W. Va., April 15 (P)—Attached to an income tax return received by the Internal Revenue Service office here was this statement: "Ours is strictly a non-profit organization. That wasn't the way we planned it, but that's the way it worked out."
